

TWO SUFFRAGE PICKETS AT CAPITAL ARRESTED

At headquarters the two banners, banners were informed that they had been arrested for blocking traffic and unlawful assemblage. They were released on their own recognizance, and no date was set for trial.

Developing the case, the suffragists took banners out again today under advice of counsel, but that they had sprung a surprise on the police. The banners bore the following inscription, characterized as "treasonable" and "offensive," they bore banners inscribed with phrases from some of President Wilson's addresses, bearing inscriptions referring to the dedication of America to the rights of democracy.

The suffragists issued a statement in which they said that Miss Wilson had acted in a peaceable manner, only stood on their rights as citizens "to advance their cause by means of the press."

The banner which led to the arrest today carried this sentence, from President Wilson's war message:

"We have always held nearest our hearts; for democracy—for the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own government."

Leaders at suffrage headquarters were undecided after the arrest of Miss Burns and Miss Mors, whether the banners would be made to display.

At 10 o'clock this morning 152 boiler makers and helpers employed at the Billerica car shops of the Boston Marine R. R., went out on a strike because, it is alleged, of the refusal of the officials of the company to discharge the general foreman of the boiler shop.

As a result of the strike the boiler shop is closed and it is feared that 700 or more machinist employed about the plant will follow the action of the boiler makers, to all the workmen in the shops are affiliated with the S. T. M. Federation, which includes more than 6000 men all over the road, including machinists, blacksmiths, electricians, etc.

Yesterday a conference was held between representatives of the boiler makers and the Boston Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America. The men accused the foreman of not making the boiler makers work and they requested the officials of the road to discharge him, but their meeting with the foreman and his assistants at the boiler makers' hall, Middlesex street, and after the national guard arrived at one o'clock this morning unless the company discharged the foreman, the men threatened to go on strike at one o'clock this morning unless the company discharged the foreman. The men were stopped and the men walked. At noon it was stated at the shop that the men had left their work. The men had simply left their work, walked out, and also that the unionists and other craftsmen had completed their work. A meeting of the strikers is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon.

GERMAN MONEY USED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, June 22.—(E)ssible pressure, including financial offers, is reported to have been brought to bear by Germans and Germans to stop the campaign of the Universal for the severance of the ties between Germany and Mexico.

The discussion of the campaign brought a renewal of the charges pro-German papers are being directly aided in their campaign against the United States by the supplies by arms in the United States. It is known that four hundred ton paper were shipped by a New firm to Vera Cruz in April, and charges were made that the paper was offered part of this shipment. If it would take a pro-German's offer was refused and the matter reached Mexico City.

Telegraphic news is written with obvious propaganda in mind representing the United States comes from New and apparently has no difficulty passing the censor.

DEVICE SAVES RAILROADS $100,000,000

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June—An old time railway fireman here has just done his bit toward industrial preparedness by perfecting a device which will reduce the national locomotive boiler repair bill by $65,000,000 annually.

His name is Charles S. Coleman. He was firing as far back as 1869 when Atlantic and Pacific were wedded by rail, and when buffalo used to block the tea-kettle engines on the plains.

His invention is a new "flue-point" to strengthen leaky flues, hitherto the weakest link in locomotive construction.

W. F. Charlton, general boiler inspector of the S.P.L.A. and Salt Lake R. R. Co., says the Coleman flue-point will save approximately $1000 due maintenance on every one of the 60,000 locomotives in use in this country today.

Tight flues will make possible methods for lessening fuel consumption and the saving of time now lost in repair shops. This will bring the annual saving to the roads well up to $200,000,000 a year.

Backed by Finley Shephard, vice-president of the Missouri Pacific, and by Supt. of Machinery Purcell of the Santa Fe, Coleman put his invention under test in the Santa Fe shops at Albuquerque about the time the railroad brotherhoods got their $50,000,000 wage increase.

Coleman's saving to the railroads doubles this figure.

The Southern Pacific and the Pennsylvania lines are soon to try out the device officially.

When the old-timer with the new idea heard that Shephard, once an "overhaul man" himself, was in Pasadena about a year ago, he took his plan before him personally by running past hotel block signals and around secretarial curves of red tape with a speed that made the drivers hot.

"I knew he was where he could give my flue-point a chance," said

Coleman, "and I knew he used to be 'one of the boys' and had sense. Coleman's device, the secret of which lies in the increased thickness of the flue-point and in the tapering hole, will not only help the fellows of his brotherhood, battling to keep up steam enough to pull a load of 'heavies,' but by greatly increasing transportation efficiency, will help win the war as well."

WASHINGTON, June 22.—At a conference yesterday with the commercial economy board of the defense council, representatives of national associations of the shoe and leather trades unanimously approved the recommendations of the board for conserving the leather and footwear resources and voted to co-operate in bringing about economies. HEAD OF COTTON EXCHANGE SAYS PRONOUNCED MOVEMENTS IN AGAINST U. S.

NEW YORK, June 22.—A statement expressing opinion that pronounced movements in cotton prices are inimical to the best interests of the United States is contained in a letter sent today to all members of the New York cotton exchange by the president, George M. Shutt. The board of managers, the communication said, "will look with extreme disfavor upon action of any member of the exchange which will tend to cause unnecessary and extreme variations in price of cotton."

NO FURTHER INVESTIGATION OF SHELL ACCIDENT ON LINER WHICH KILLED NURSES

WASHINGTON, June 22.—No further investigation will be made by the senate naval committee of the shell accident last month on the armed liner Mongolia in which two Red Cross nurses were killed. STOCKHOLM, June—The population of the Kingdom of Sweden at the end of 1916 was 5,757,866, according to figures just made public by the kingdom's central bureau of statistics.

The increase during the year was 44,826, somewhat larger proportionally than in 1915, but the lowest recorded at any other time in the last ten years. The percentages of births and deaths—respectively 1.14 and 1.85 a thousand—are both the lowest ever recorded.

LOWELL BOYS ORDAINED PRIESTS AT WASHINGTON

Rev. Brothers Curry and McCartin Become Members of Oblate Order

Parents and Friends From Lowell and North Chelmsford at Services

A most impressive ceremony was carried out at the Catholic University in Washington, D. C., this morning, when Rev. T. Francis Curry, O.M.I., of North Chelmsford, and Rev. James B. McCartin, O.M.I., of Lowell, were ordained to the priesthood by Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Shanahan, D.D., rector of the Catholic University. The service was largely attended, including among others the parents and friends of the young priests who had made the journey from Lowell to be present at the ceremony. Bishop Shanahan after the ceremony of ordination, spoke briefly to the newly-ordained clergymen on the dignity of the holy priesthood and its mission among men as divinely authorized. He praised the parents of the young priests on their self-sacrifice, and on their unwavering devotion to the highest ideals of true Catholic life; for surely he said they share the joys of these young priests on this most notable occasion in their lives. After the ceremony Rev.

Woman Thought She Would Die. Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ogdensburg, Wis.—"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. ETNA DORRIS, Ogdensburg, Wis. Physicians undoubtedly did their best, but often the most scientific treatment is surpassed by the medicinal properties of the good old fashioned roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Lowell Old Folks Take New Lease of Life

They All Look Into The Future With Confidence

This is the situation of hundreds of elderly men and women that have had their youth and health restored in such a short time. Age and its attendant infirmities have been steadily declining to the regret and dismay of kind relatives and friends are now hale and hearty, active both mentally and physically. Life to them has renewed the joys and pleasures of youth, where the usual steady progress down hill, with the decline and useless burden to themselves and everybody around. How they all dread this and how unnecessary it is. A lively "old timer" said to our reporter, "I am now seventy years of age and my wife sixty-five and we both feel that any remedy that will truly build up the strength and increase the power of endurance of people of our age should be known to every nation, man, woman and child. Phosphated Iron did the work for both of us, and we made up our minds to let all of our friends know about it. Take it from us, we certainly have spread the gospel of Phosphated Iron through this neighborhood, so much so that hardly a day goes by without some of our friends stopping to thank us for putting them wise to such a splendid preparation."

Our city is full of just such experiences. Thousands of men and women in all walks of life who need a strength and blood building nerve tonic, but do not know what to take. For this there is nothing like good old Iron and Phosphates in the right combination. "Phosphated Iron" to give increased strength, snap, vigor and staying power together with freedom from all nerve troubles. It enriches the blood, feeds starved nerves, brings a full, healthy color to the cheeks, is an unfailing source of renewed vitality, endurance and power for men and women who burn up their nervous energies too rapidly in this day of strenuous business and social competition.

Iron and Phosphates have been known to Doctors for years as being absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food to healthy, strong, live nourishment and make nerves like iron. Phosphated Iron will do this for you. Try it today and you will be a "live one" again. "Come back," it can be done, the proof is everywhere around you.

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we put in capsules only, for the same reason, to allow dealers to substitute any pills or tablets.

BOOZE SALES WORRY THE DRUGGISTS

Special to The Sun

STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 22.—Druggists throughout the state who hold sixth class licenses permitting them to sell intoxicating liquors or physicians' prescriptions are beginning to wonder whether their licenses have any real value. The question has become so important that the state board of pharmacy is likely soon to ask Attorney General Henry C. Atwood for a ruling as to whether such licenses may legally be granted, and whether, if already granted, they have any value.

The question arises because of the fact that the Massachusetts sixth class license law is based upon the Pharmacopoeia of the United States, and that publication, in its 1917 edition, omits all reference to whiskey and brandy. Several years ago, drug stores were permitted to sell beer, on prescription, but when that third Pharmacopoeia the sale of beer in drug

IN BLACK AND BLUE WORSTEDS

About every man has occasion to wear a Black Suit now and then.

About every man would have one, but Blacks are dear and he hesitates to put the money out until he is compelled. A low price black suit frightens the average man because he figures the quality is generally missing.

This Week

I am specializing on a black suit that is usually high priced, on a black suit that positively has quality. Wanskuk Black Unfinished Worsted sells every place today from $22.50 to $30.00, according to the clientele of the house that sells it. I don't have to praise Wanskuk goods, our government does this when they select this mill to make their high grade serges for officers' uniforms, and the high priced clothing weaves gave the Wanskuk mill a reputation before it became the leading black and blue maker of this country.

To favor trade this week I offer to make to your measure a suit from Wanskuk Black Unfinished Worsted or from Wanskuk Plain Blue or Black Serge. Your common sense tells you I am not looking for profit at this figure I quote. It is nearing dull season and more to keep things moving than even to turn over the stock, I give this bargain. Buy one on my recommendation. You will never regret it.

stores immediately became illegal. Therefore, it is argued, the omission of whiskey and brandy from the 1917 edition make their sale equally illegal.

The law provides that "spirituous or intoxicating liquor shall not be sold, exchanged, delivered, or exposed, offered, or kept for sale, exchange or delivery, upon the licensed premises, unless it is of good standard quality and is free from any adulteration prohibited in the Pharmacopoeia of the United States." Another clause expressly requires that all liquors sold under a sixth class license shall be of a quality demanded by the laws relative to the adulteration of foods and drugs, which in turn are made contingent on the Pharmacopoeia.

Druggists realized the danger more than a year ago, and although the state board of pharmacy at that time refused to pass upon the merits of the question there was much discussion between proprietors of drug stores and members of the board, as a result of which a bill was presented to the legislature last January, providing that the sixth class licenses should be based upon the 1907 edition of the Pharmacopoeia, which included both whiskey and brandy. This bill, however, failed of passage, and consequently the law was left just as it had been before—viz., it established the current edition of the Pharmacopoeia as the standard.

Advising boards throughout the state without knowledge of the change in the Pharmacopoeia, have issued sixth class licenses in just the same manner as before the change, but other interests have questioned their right to do so, with the result that the board of pharmacy will probably seek legal advice, and may then take the matter to the courts.

MEAT UNNECESSARY

Says J. H. WATSON, M. D.

Meat is the most expensive article of diet, and the least necessary. Milk, cheese, fruit, fresh fish, to vegetable articles and you have a good diet. The rheumatic should abstain from meats, or eat very sparingly. It is a well-known fact that in gout serious organic disease of the kidneys occurs. Such scientists as Fothergill, Minowski, Hans, Vogt and Roach have shown that uric acid in excess is retained in the blood when the kidneys do not help excrete this poison. Uric acid retained within the body is believed to be the preceding stage or cause of Bright's disease. The excessive use of nitrogenous food or meats often increases uric acid.

High living, intestinal indigestion, constipation, disturbance of the liver, frequent chilling of the body—all result in retaining within the body an excess of uric acid.

The best way to overcome this condition and prevent rheumatism and gout is to drink plenty of water, say, a pint of hot water morning and night with lemon juice squeezed into it, and take Anuric (double strength) three times a day. This can be obtained at any drug store. This is my invariable prescription for the rheumatic person, and it usually follows that the rheumatic pains, the backache, such as lumbago, pains in the back of the neck or limbs, will disappear. This Anuric by its tonic effect upon the kidneys encourages them to greater activity, and thereby the uric acid is thrown out of the system. It is also well to prevent constipation and that greater evil, auto-intoxication, to take binding exercises every morning, plenty of water between meals, and at least once a week take a vegetable laxative. Such a one is made of May-apple, extract of vegetable cologne and root of jalap, easily obtained at any drug store because sold for fifty years under the name of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

GRADUATING EXERCISES IN CHELMSFORD

Thirteen young students received their diplomas at the graduating exercises of the Chelmsford Centre high school held in the town hall last night. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends of the graduates. The pupils present and the program carried out proved to be very interesting and reflected much credit on those who participated. The interior of the hall was decorated in an artistic manner, the national colors predominating.

The members of the graduating class occupied seats on the platform, while seats in the body of the hall were reserved for the alumni and high school pupils. The graduating class was composed of seven young women and six young men. The class motto was "Impossible is Neither Democratic Nor Christian."

The following program was given: Grand march, Gray's orchestra; prayer, Rev. E. A. Robinson; songs, "Gipsy Song," (Frederic Manley) "Over the Meadows," (Adam Geibel) High School Glee club; salutatory essay, "Obstacles as Pedestals," Earl Russell Richardson; selection by orchestra; essay, "America's Duty and the Peace After the War," Glen Roy Blaisdell; song, Keller's American hymn, by school glee club; valedictory essay, "Our Debts and Duties," Clarence Albert Barry; selection by orchestra; conferring of diplomas, Supt. A. W. Small; class ode, words by Ruth Vera Cogger; address, Lemuel Herbert Murlin, L.L.D., president Boston University; benediction, Rev. L. L. Greene, and recitation by orchestra.

The members of the class were as follows: Dorothea Chambers Emerson, president; Clarence Albert Barry, vice president; Ellen Emma Paigson, treasurer; Donald Francis Adams, secretary.

AMERICANS TAKE OVER INFANTILE PARALYSIS CLINIC IN JUNE

BIG FIELD HOSPITALS

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, June 22.—By The Associated Press.—Quietly, and with very little ceremony—so as to escape virtually all but official attention, American doctors, nurses and enlisted men have within the last fortnight taken over six of the British great general field hospitals, releasing the English staffs for duty near their front. American surgeons have been rendering valuable aid also in their forward casualty clearing stations during the battle of Meuse. This has been the quickest organized aid the United States has given British arms in France and has been greatly appreciated.

The Americans have been much impressed by the efficiency of their welcome as well as by the thoroughness and effectiveness of the British hospital system. They have been made the Americans have taken up their new work without even a moment's pause in the service of the various hospitals. The State and Stripes fly with the British Union Jack from each hospital flagstaff, the two ensigns fluttering and the cool breezes that sweep in from the sea.

The British selected their hospital sites for the greatest care and have developed them with a completeness that has come from nearly three years' field experience.

Originally planned for 1000 beds each, virtually all the general hospitals have been enlarged to 1400 beds and are now accommodating 2000 patients. The units which have taken over the various hospitals were organized by the American Red Cross and the United States army and navy. With the declaration of war these plants were turned over to the regular army for service as required. Each unit has brought along an organizing director who was a surgeon in civil practice but now takes command as a major in the United States army. The commanding officer in each unit is a regular American army surgeon while the subordinate medical personnel are composed of regular army surgeons and doctors commissioned from civil life. The nurses are all graduates of well known training schools and will probably be supplemented soon by voluntary aid detachments of young women which are now attached to the various British staffs.

The first of the American units to reach France was the 1st United States general hospital No. 4, which was organized in Cleveland by Dr. George W. Crile with Maj. C. C. Cummings as commanding officer. This unit has taken over British general hospital No. 9, somewhere in France. Another unit, organized at Harvard with Maj. R. U. Patterson as commanding officer, has taken over British general hospital No. 11.

The American hospitals present an interesting international picture. They are composed of British, Canadian, Irish, Australian, New Zealand and Portuguese. American doctors and nurses have already acquired the local habit which they enjoy every afternoon with the convalescent wounded.

WAS WASHED OVERBOARD BY WAVES

Mrs. Joseph Hobart, of 72 East Meadow road, Pawtucketville, who received a telegram yesterday from the navy department to the effect that her husband had been drowned at sea, received further information today concerning his death. The telegram yesterday stated nothing beyond the fact that her husband had been drowned at sea on June 15.

Today she received word that Mr. Hobart, in company with three other men, was washed overboard by the waves and that they drowned before the rescue crew could reach them.

HOLD MAN WHO TRIED TO ENLIST IN CANADA

HAMILTON, Ont., June 22.—The Hamilton police today are holding for the Ottawa authorities Percy de Willoughby, who was arrested here last night as he was about to enlist as a private in the Canadian army. It was said he was wanted on a charge of passing worthless checks.

For the past few months de Willoughby is said to have posed in the United States as a British army captain and was even known by many prominent people. He is said to have lectured for the benefit of the Red Cross in a number of cities including Boston. While in New York, he was sought and was introduced to members of the British and French war commissions.

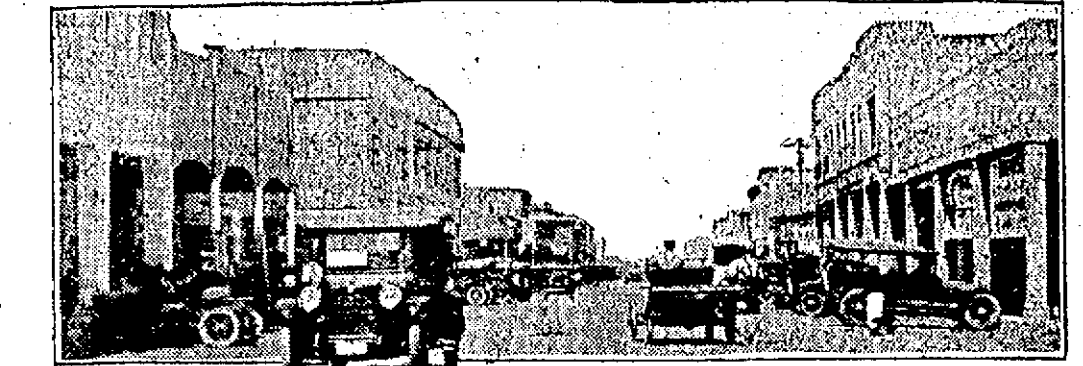

According to the police de Willoughby, while in England, where he was an accountant and went to France with his corps. In France he is said to have deserted and returned to England where he again enlisted. He is alleged to have then passed worthless checks, which led to his arrest. He escaped from jail in England and is said to have been arrested here when he represented himself as Capt. Percy de Willoughby, D.S.O. of the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders and stated that he had been wounded several times. He is about 26 years old.

N. E. GOVERNORS WANT REPRESENTATION ON INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

CONCORD, N. H., June 22.—The governors of six New England states have joined in asking President Wilson to give this section representation on the interstate commerce commission. The message says that the relatively isolated position of New England demands that its fuel and transportation needs be given consideration by a man familiar with them. The message is signed by Henry W. Keyes, New Hampshire; Carl E. Milliken, Maine; Horace F. Graham, Vermont; Samuel W. McCall, Massachusetts; Edwin A. Beaman, Rhode Island; and Marcus H. Holcomb, Connecticut.

STREET SCENE IN CALEXICO, CAL., ONE OF THE THRIVING TOWNS IN THE IMPERIAL VALLEY

CALEXICO, Cal., June 22.—The Imperial valley, watered by the most extensive irrigation system in the western hemisphere, will contribute, according to latest statistics, over $80,000,000 worth of food products to the nation this season. The chief staples will be cotton, grains, livestock and garden truck. A little over a decade ago this region was a desert. Man or beast ventured upon it at the peril of life. The soil was so dry that a handful of spade would have brought up a hardy engineer harnessed the great Colorado river and diverted a portion of its flow into the Imperial valley irrigation district. There are 276,000 acres of irrigable land in the Imperial irrigation district, 58 per cent. of which is already being watered. This valley is the largest area in the United States under one irrigation system. There are only two larger in the world, one in Egypt and the other in India, both under the control of the British government. No more spectacular change has ever been witnessed than has occurred in the Imperial valley in the last 17 years. In 1900 the land was worthless. Today it is assessed at more than $26,000,000.

The most astonishing product that has come out of Imperial is cotton of best quality grown. With hostilities upon us, this is an important contribution to our war chest. The Imperial irrigation district was organized in 1911, said Engineer E. B. Smith, superintendent. The present distributing system was acquired in 1916 at a cost of less than $3,000,000. The district operates on a mutual basis. Recently a bond issue of $2,500,000 for extensions and improvements was voted, in addition to $1,500,000 now being expended. The water is obtained from the Colorado river at a great cost, costing the Imperial Irrigation district about $1.50 per acre foot. The main canal flows 35 miles through Mexico before crossing the border into Imperial county.

Bl Centro and Calexico are the principal towns in the Imperial valley. Both are thriving and growing rapidly. Calexico, opposite Mexicali, with a population of 5500 persons in Imperial county, is the largest city in the city of Los Angeles, with its 500,000 inhabitants. With thousands being spent by the growing cities and millions expended in water canals and ditches, the Imperial valley is just getting a good start.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERS AND MILITARY TRAINING MANUFACTURERS AND FARM WORK

Chemical engineers and manufacturers from all over the United States will gather here from September 10 to 15 to participate in the fifty-fifth annual convention of the American chemical society. It is estimated that over a thousand will be present for the event, in spite of the fact that many will be compelled to remain at home on account of war orders and the development of September and October. It was intended that the convention would occupy the entire second week of September, but it has been determined on account of the serious times and the mobilization of the militia during that month, that it will be held over the first and second weeks of September. The banquet and other entertainments, excepting that a typical New England dinner will be given, and a smoker will give the desirable touch of good-fellowship to the event.

This convention has great significance in New England, as it will bring many chemical engineers and experts to this locality for the first time. It will be a great development of the chemical business in the United States, as a result of the cutting off of imports of chemicals and dyes from Germany and other foreign countries since the declaration of war in 1914. The rise of the chemical industry in this country has placed the chemists themselves in the foreground of modern industry. The public has come to realize the importance of their importance in modern warfare has brought about the mobilization of the chemists and manufacturers throughout the entire country. There are about 30,000 engineers and chemists who have been mobilized, and in the case of such enormous problems as the use of a million pounds of explosive in one operation such as the sinking of the Lusitania, the chemists are being pulled out by the thousands. In Belgium, the public is beginning to realize the advance of the industry to its present position. The convention will undoubtedly bring to light some of the marvelous results of recent research, and many experts and engineers who hold prominent positions in the advance of the industry will be speakers at the various meetings.

The convention will be under the immediate direction of the northeastern section of the American chemical society, of which section Dr. Henry P. Talbot, head of the department of technology, is the chairman. Full committees will be appointed shortly to plan the details of the convention. Hermann C. Lythgoe is the treasurer of the section. Dr. William B. Smith is its secretary, and Robert W. Nott is chairman of the publicity committee. The section now has a membership of over 500 chemists, the national society having 5000 members. The president of the national society is Julia Stiglitz of the University of Chicago, and the secretary is Charles L. Parsons of Washington, D. C.

ALLOWANCE TO COYS FOR SHOES LONDON, June.—The 20,000 policemen in the metropolitan area of London have just been given an additional allowance of twelve cents a week to wear their shoes. This makes the total allowance 24 cents a week. The men buy their own shoes.

400 MINES EXPLODED OR FISHED UP ON THE COAST OF GOTLAND

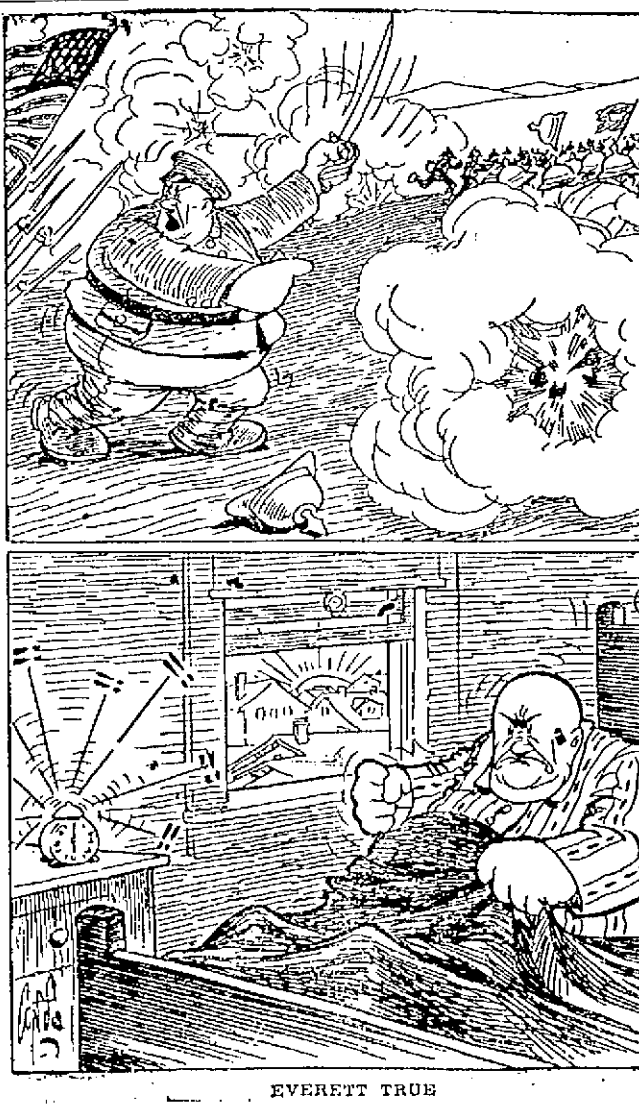

STOCKHOLM, June.—Four hundred mines have exploded or been fished up on the coast of Gotland since the war began. Seventy-five of them came ashore on a fifteen-mile stretch of coast. Nobody has been hurt by the explosions, which have cost the government a great deal of money. The mines were lost just off the coast by the blowing up of the steamer Rindan. One peasant on the coast, whose house is at the water's edge, has experienced four explosions under his very eaves, but neither he nor any one of his family has been hurt.

BICYCLING IN LONDON

LONDON, June.—Bicycling in London and the surrounding districts during the recent omnibus strike. People who had been out of practice for several years dragged their bicycles into the streets, and the streets were filled with them. This was especially true of the girl munition workers who wanted to be in time for their duties. Even after the striking omnibuses returned to the city streets people continued to use their bicycles.

Careless Use of Soap Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mild coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use. One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water, and rub in the oil with an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, and easy to manage. You can get mulsified coconut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply ever member of the family for months.

SAVE SUGAR IN JELLY MAKING WASHINGTON, D. C.—Much waste of sugar and spoilage of jellies can be avoided by using a single alcohol test recommended by the bureau of chemistry, United States department of agriculture. To determine how much sugar should be used with each kind of fruit put a spoonful of juice in a glass and add to it one spoonful of 85 per cent. grain alcohol. Mix by shaking the glass gently. Pour slowly from the glass, noting how the pectin—the substance in fruits which makes them stiff—precipitates. If the pectin is precipitated as one lump a cup of sugar may be used for each cup of juice. If in several lumps, use to approximately three-fourths the amount of the juice. If the pectin is not in lumps but is merely precipitated, the sugar should be one-half or less of the amount of the juice. If the juice shows no precipitation under this test, it is unsuitable for jelly making and must be combined with much sugar. The test should be made before making the test, to taste the juice, as fruits not as acid as good tart apples make them stiff and firm. If the juice is mixed with other fruits which are acid. FRENCH VICTORY IN CHAMPAGNE

LONDON, June 22.—Spirited attacks by the French northward of Verdun, and the capture of the town of Vauxaillon, in Champagne, followed the victory of the French army in the battle of the Marne. The French army, which had been repulsed by the Germans at the battle of the Marne, had now taken the offensive and had captured the town of Vauxaillon, in Champagne. BOYS OF ST. PATRICK'S GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

The annual entertainment in connection with the commencement exercises of St. Patrick's Boys' school was given at the Opera House last evening. The affair took on a degree of the nature of graduation exercises, but the actual awarding of diplomas will not take place until next Sunday, when they will be presented at the high mass at St. Patrick's church by Monsignor William O'Brien. Last evening's offering was even above the standard of past years, and the large crowd of friends and relatives of the young men were not dilatory in showing their appreciation. The earlier numbers of the program were, in almost every instance, of a patriotic tone, and for this reason were especially acceptable at the present time. The pupils of the lower grades offered recitations, patriotic songs, and a number of patriotic tableaux. The Indian club drill by the pupils of the fifth grade was skillfully carried out, and was decidedly pleasant to look at. "The Story of the American Flag" and "The Spirit of 1776 and 1817," were also cleverly presented.

MAN KILLS HIMSELF IN BOSTON COURTHOUSE

BOSTON, June 22.—Henry F. Barker, a stenographer, shot himself in the lavatory near the Social Law library in the Suffolk county courthouse at 12:30 yesterday and died in the afternoon at the Haymarket-square relief station. The cause of the suicide is not known, although Barker, who lived at 74 Greenleaf street, Quincy, with his mother and sister, was known to have strong pro-German sentiments and was within the draft age. Although the lavatory has been carefully guarded since the explosion at the courthouse several months ago, no particular attention was paid to Barker when he entered, nor did the sound of the shot cause any great excitement, persons hearing it being of the belief that Barker had shot himself. The man's body, lying in a pool of blood, was discovered by Arthur Parker, a newspaperman, who immediately notified Patrolman George H. McCaffrey of the board of health. After the dying man had been removed to the hospital, a courthouse attaché said that Barker had borrowed a small sum of money from him about 10 minutes prior to the shooting. Besides his mother and sister, Barker is survived by a wife and two young sons in Washington.

WOMAN KILLS BUCK DEER WITH A CLUB—FOUND IT GORING COW

ORANGE, June 22.—Mrs. Louis Kurtz of Irving probably saved her life yesterday afternoon by effectively wielding a heavy chestnut club so that it struck between the eyes of a charging infuriated buck deer and instantly killed it. Hearing an unusual bellowing from her cow in the pasture nearby, Mrs. Kurtz discovered the animal down and two buck deer goring her. She snatched a club and went out to save the cow. One of the deer ran off but the other left his attack on the cow and charged her. She struck the animal squarely between the eyes and he fell dead. The buck weighed 160 pounds. The cow was not seriously injured.

FRANK A. SMALL, PROMINENT SHIP BUILDER AND FORMER MAYOR OF BATH, M.D.

SOMERVILLE, June 22.—Frank A. Small, a prominent ship builder and former mayor of Bath, Me., died of apoplexy late yesterday while visiting at the home of a relative here. He was 63 years old. For many years Mr. Small was junior member of the firm of Percy & Small, builders of many of the largest wooden schooners engaged in the Atlantic coastwise trade. In 1911 he was elected mayor of Bath and was re-elected in 1912.

BLAZING TAR AUTO TRUCK GOES ON RAMPAGE AT BEACHMONT FAMILIES SMOKED OUT

BEVERLY, June 22.—Residents of Beachmont, this city, had an experience with a "terrible tank" yesterday afternoon. It was an auto sprinkling truck containing a tank of blazing tar and it went on a rampage on Endicott avenue, filling the district with dense acrid smoke which nearly caused a panic along Short beach. The truck took fire while being used in retarding the avenue. It shot along like a flaming chariot, scattering the burning tar and oil in all directions and leaving a thick cloud of black smoke in its wake. Several families on the landward side of the street were smoked out. The house of Mrs. Margaret Smith at 83 and that of Isadore Lescar, at 90 Endicott avenue, in front of which the truck finally stopped after the rear tires had Delmore, a young man of the parish who is fast gaining prominence as a singer. The singing choir, orchestra under the direction of John J. Giblin, also added to the success of the occasion. Rev. Bros. Osmund, C.P.N., the principal of the school, is once more to be congratulated on the calibre of the young men whom he is yearly sending out from his institution, and also on the devoted brothers who work unceasingly and untiringly for the young men.

Among the number of visitors who were present at last evening's performance were St. Rev. William O'Brien, P.R., of St. Patrick's parish, and Rev. AMERICANS ABROAD AID THE RED CROSS

WASHINGTON, June 22.—America's campaign to raise $100,000,000 for the Red Cross today assumed international proportions when word reached headquarters that committees of Americans in London, Paris, Panama, Ecuador, Peru and other South American countries are actively soliciting funds. Promises of contributions aggregating several hundred thousand dollars came also from Manila, Alaska and Guam.

Compliments at headquarters early today showed $53,000,000 had been obtained and today's work was expected to raise the total to near $75,000,000. Already the Red Cross machinery is at work on plans for spending the sum most wisely. Henry F. Davison, chairman of the Red Cross war council, has almost daily conferences with representatives of Russia, France and Rumania to discuss what relief work shall be undertaken in these countries.

It was said today that the prospective field of work for the American Red Cross is developing so fast that $100,000,000 might not be sufficient for long, and possibly either another popular canvass for funds would be conducted or congress would be asked for an appropriation.

Braves Aid Red Cross
BOSTON, June 22.—With several of her smaller sister cities in New England having already over subscribed their allotments in the campaign to raise $7,000,000 in New England this week for the Red Cross war relief fund campaign, officials here today pronounced the results of the canvass in greater Boston "most disappointing." Boston has raised only $1,250,000 and renewed efforts are under way to push the hands of the great campaign clocks around to the $2,000,000 mark.

Plans for bringing into the Red Cross campaign the organization which did such great work in the Liberty Loan campaign today were discussed at a meeting of Liberty Loan campaign workers at the Exchange club. Presidents of all the banks and trust companies in the city and representatives of many industrial concerns were present. The list of speakers included Alfred L. Aiken, governor of the Boston federal reserve bank and N. Penrose Hathwell, vice chairman of the Liberty Loan committee.

Members of the Boston National league baseball team wearing their uniforms contributed a feature to the open air campaign on Boston common today. President Percy Houghton and Manager George T. Stallings were listed as the leading speakers.

In order to stimulate the interest of corporations throughout New England in the campaign, the Greater Boston committee have issued a letter emphasizing the necessity for raising New England's quota and suggesting the timeliness of declaring special dividends with a request to stockholders that they contribute some portion of such dividends to the Red Cross.

PAWNEES DANCE

The third annual social and dancing party of the Pawnees was held last night at the Pawtucket boathouse in Pawtucket street. There was a large attendance and the affair proved to be a success in every particular. Music for dancing was furnished by Markham's Banjo orchestra. During the evening Miss Anna Cavanaugh, one of Lowell's youngest fancy dancers, danced the Highland fling and Pierrot dance. The success of the party was due to the zealous and untiring work of the following officials: General manager, Herbie Ganley; assistant general manager, Rose Charron; floor director, Catherine Kinnigan; assistant floor director, Arthur Carroll; treasurer, Thos. Grady; secretary, Eugene Mahan; chief aid, Anna Cavanaugh.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

William Kelly appeared before Judge Enright in police court this morning on a rather novel complaint, that of painting on the Lord's day, it not being a work of necessity or charity. A plea of guilty was entered and the court ordered Kelly to pay a fine of $10.

Patrolman Simon Lane testified that on Sunday, May 20, while he was passing through Prescott street trying doors, he found the door of one of the stores unlocked and entering saw Kelly and two other men painting the interior. Upon questioning them he found that they had no permit to do work on Sunday and as a result of the report he made at the police station Kelly was summoned to appear in court this morning.

Annie Terminke was charged with the larceny of a quart of milk belonging to Michael McCarthy, but owing to the non-appearance of the owner of the milk the case was continued until tomorrow morning, the woman being allowed to go on her own recognizance.

Herbert Barry who was charged with drunkenness had been begging on the street and although warned by the officer persisted in doing so. Barry said he was on his way to Ayer and if given a chance would leave the city on the next car. He was given the chance.

Ernest Brothers was charged with drunkenness and the larceny of a watch and chain valued at $12. He pleaded guilty to being drunk, but denied that he had committed larceny. Inasmuch as the government was not ready for trial the case was postponed until tomorrow morning.

William A. O'Connell, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to one month in jail. John Carney was sentenced to two months in the same institution and Allen Fletcher was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

Nicholas Kennedy of Billerica was charged with neglecting to provide for his wife, but the woman during the course of her testimony said she did not do without the money if her husband would keep away from the house. He was given a suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction.

Michael Cloney was also charged with neglecting his wife, the latter stating that her husband had not seen her for eight weeks. Inasmuch as it was thought that an amicable settlement could be reached the matter was continued for a month.

Tomorrow's Session

Tomorrow's session of the police court will open at 9 a.m. instead of 10 o'clock, the change being made in order to give Judge Enright an opportunity to be a member of the party which is going to make an inspection of the state hospital at Norfolk.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED IN THE FISH TRADE

BOSTON, June 22.—Forty-one of the leading wholesale fish dealers of Boston, doing business as the New England Fish Exchange, have been charged by the government with forming an unlawful combination and conspiring to monopolize the fresh fish industry of New England.

A voluminous bill in equity setting forth the charge in detail was filed in the United States district court yesterday by United States District Attorney George W. Anderson as the first step in the prosecution of the fish magnates for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

In view of the high price of fish and the threatened advent of meatless days, the prosecution is expected to have a salutary effect so far as the consuming public is concerned.

One of the principal abuses, which the government complains of is an assessment upon every pound of fish bought and sold upon the exchange during the past eight years which has been added to the price of fish charged to the consumer and which has netted the members of the exchange an income of $4,000,000, which was split up between them.

The defendants are the Bay State Fishing company and eight of its subsidiaries, the Boston Fish Pier company and 23 of its subsidiaries, the Boston Fish Market Corporation, which controls the fish pier in South Boston under a 16-year lease from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; the Commonwealth Ice & Cold Storage company, which owns and operates the cold storage plant at the fish pier, and five other firms, all wholesale dealers and all members of the New England Fish Exchange.

The Bay State Fishing company is an $8,000,000 corporation and is the largest single catcher of fish in this part of the country. It owns all but one of the steam trawlers engaged in the New England fishing industry and easily dominates the situation through its subsidiary concerns.

According to the bill of complaint, this concern attempted last year to exchange in a single corporation.

The plan failed, owing to the formation of a combination headed by the Boston Fish Pier company. Recently, the bill alleges, the differences between the two opposing camps of dealers were amicably arranged and an agreement entered into involving certain fixing of maximum prices for buying and minimum prices for selling fish, division of territory and the usual result of an illegal combination such as this defendants are alleged to have formed.

Dodge, Alexander Smith, George Chapin, Jr., the Minnesota and Ontario Power Co., the Spanish River Fish & Paper Mills, Ltd., the Intercontinental Paper Co., the Abitibi Power & Paper Co. Ltd., the Laurentide Co. Ltd., and others not designated.

The basis of the complaint is the commission's report issued at the conclusion of its investigation into the production and cost of prima paper. The manufacturers are charged with having conspired and banded together to control the industry, increase the cost of paper by restricting free competition, and limiting the production, and having divided the country into territories apportioned among themselves for the sale of their product.

In addition Mr. Walsh charges that the manufacturers have discriminated in prices among publishers, favoring some and ruining others, and have violated contracts made with the commission to be fair, legal and profitable.

Many false claims and allegations, Mr. Walsh charges, have been made by the manufacturers as a result of the alleged program of obtaining and retaining control of the field.

"The commission has ample power under the law to stop this," says a statement by Mr. Walsh in connection with the filing of the complaint. "They may enter an order commanding these known offenders to desist. There is no excuse for usual law's delay. The conspirators refusing, they may have peremptory orders from any or all circuit courts of appeal in the United States where the offenses are being committed, compelling compliance with the demand of the commission. Such orders under the federal statutes are summary in character and take precedence over all other cases."

"The present war emergency makes it imperative that such orders be made immediately."

COMPROMISE ON SIX
CENT FARE INCREASE

BOSTON, June 22.—A compromise agreement was arrived at yesterday between officials of the Bay-State Street Railway company and the representatives of many cities served by the company's lines under which, it is expected, the request of the company to inaugurate a six-cent fare will be granted.

The public service commission, it is understood, stands ready to put into effect whatever schedule the contending forces may agree upon, and inasmuch as the plan decided upon in yesterday's meeting was unanimously approved the officials do not feel that there is much doubt of favorable action on the part of the commission.

The plan approved in the conference was as follows: A six-cent fare generally, with the provision that 10 and 20-trip tickets may be purchased at the rate of five cents a trip, which will be good at all times except Sundays, holidays and Saturday afternoons; the continuation of free transfers where the transfer point is within the same city where the passenger enters the car or when the centers of the cities or towns are so close as to make them practically one community, a charge of one cent to be made for all transfers under other conditions, and an arrangement of fares on certain lines which do not now pay so as to make them self-supporting, with the alternative of their being cut off altogether.

There was no provision in the decision of the conference relative to tickets for school children or for workmen aside from the 10 and 20-trip tickets at five cents a trip.

The Sun is read daily in more homes in Lowell than any other newspaper.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Formal charges against print paper manufacturers, frankly designed to force the federal trade commission to some action against them were filed with the commission today by Frank P. Walsh, who was formerly chairman of the federal industrial relations commission.

Acting as an individual in this instance, Mr. Walsh charges that newsprint manufacturers for many months have been using unfair methods of competition in production and sale of print paper. He asks the commission to conduct a public hearing.

Individuals and corporations named in Mr. Walsh's complaint include R. W. Backus, George H. Mead, P. T.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Administration supporters of the food bills rearranged their battle lines today to make sure that the senate does not kill the second bill on the ground that the first bill is enough.

Fearing that should the first, or production bill, with its clause against food hoarding, be finally enacted while the senate debates the second, or control bill, it might be contended that the provisions of the first bill are sufficient, the house leaders today decided today to let the first bill remain in its present stage, and thus force the senate to enact all the program before any of it gets to the critical stage of conference between the two houses.

Should house leaders be able to delay the appointment of conferees on the first bill until after passage of the second by both houses, they expected to get most of the administration's program on the statute books.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Prohibition proposals and pending amendments to eliminate government licensing of food dealers were the principal subjects of contention in the house today on the administration's food control bill, whose final passage is expected tomorrow.

In the house speeches were limited to five minutes. Senator Reed of Missouri was ready to take the floor in the senate for a long speech in opposition to the bill.

Indications multiplied today that the legislation would be enacted by July 1, as urged by President Wilson.

SCHOOL TEACHER KILLS WIFE OF MAN SHE LOVED AND THEN SHOT HERSELF

WANKESHA, Wis., June 22.—Miss Grace Lusk, high school teacher, who yesterday shot and killed Mrs. Roberts, wife of Dr. David Roberts, former state veterinarian, and then tried to kill herself by sending two bullets into her body, probably will recover, physicians said today. Dr. Roberts, who arrived at the house after the shooting, asked Miss Lusk why she had killed his wife.

"I didn't intend to, but just lost my head when she said I couldn't have you," she replied. To Dr. R. B. Davies and Chief of Police McKay, who had been summoned after the shooting, Miss Lusk said:

"I am sorry for Mrs. Roberts. I hope my wounds are fatal. I never thought I could do it. I loved Dr. Roberts and want him now and always."

Several weeks ago Mrs. Roberts is said to have appeared before the board of education and to have asked for Miss Lusk's dismissal, alleging that she was not a proper person to be associated with the schools.

TO REFUSE RETURNS OF
STALE BREAD

WASHINGTON, June 22.—More than 22,000 bakers throughout the country have agreed with the commercial economy board to begin on July 10 to refuse returns of stale bread from dealers. By thus compelling housewives to order for their needs and dealers to confine supplies to actual demand, enough waste will be eliminated to feed 200,000 persons beside releasing many employes for other necessary work.

Card From The Talbot Clothing Co.

This is a card of thanks to all our good friends of Lowell and vicinity—It seems a long time since in 1881 we bought out the old stand of Messrs. Wheeler & Son and met the Lowell people for the first time. The writer lived for many years in Lowell and made the best friends of his life in your city, and today his son has taken permanent residence with you and will have the same fine treatment. The store has always been successful, it was enlarged several times, taking in Jones' Plumbing establishment and Ferrin's shoe store, and in the winter of 1901-1902 the second story of the American House was added. Of course as years went by, new ideas appeared in all lines of business—and two years ago I went through the large cities in the east and then went west to see the newest ideas in clothing stores. I believe I have gotten together the best from all the stores, and that Lowell will have the best up-to-date store in New England. The front is a western idea and the new fixtures that will follow are the latest that are known today. Taken as a whole we believe it will be a perfect clothing store. The same policy that has made the store successful for so many years will be continued—The lowest prices for good merchandise, entire satisfaction to all purchasers, and polite service by our employees—success will continue under these rules we are confident. Just now we must make way for the army of mechanics who go to work July 5, and must reduce our store stock at least one-half. With everything going up in price the Lowell public will appreciate the bargain prices, and they are named on all clothing excepting Blue Serges and Flannels and Black Suits. Furnishing Goods and Hats are included. This sale is extraordinary as it's practically the whole stock, not a few items selected. We expect to cut our $70,000 stock in half by July 5. The store will be closed all day Wednesday and Thursday, and open Friday at 9 a. m. Thanking you again and hoping our efforts to give you the best will meet your approval,

We are, yours very truly,

Provost Marshal General Crowder announced today that draft regulations will be ready for publication July 1, two months before the first call to the colors. Details of the machinery governing exemption boards were not disclosed. In addition to the regularly tabulated totals, 6000 Indians of eligible age were enrolled. Making allowances for the 600,000 or 601 eligibles as approximately correct more already in military or naval service not required to register, the provost marshal-general's office figured the census bureau estimate of 10,276.

ANOTHER DROWNING ACCIDENT
William Lawrence Brown, aged six years, son of William and Elizabeth Brown of 21 Exeter street, was drowned in the Merrimack river near Alken street dump yesterday afternoon. The Brown boy, accompanied by Clifford Bully and George Clue, went swimming in what is known as the "baby hole" in the river and the former waded out beyond his depth. His companions becoming frightened fled without reporting the matter. Shortly before 5 o'clock, Michael J. Burns of Riverside street was passing the spot where the drowning occurred and he saw young Brown's body floating in the water. Undertaker Albert was notified and the body was removed to his rooms, where it was viewed by Assistant Medical Examiner. Later the body was taken to the rooms of Undertaker J. W. McKenna, 118 Bridge street and will be removed to the boy's home today. Besides his parents, he leaves two sisters, Mattie and May, and three brothers, William, Harvey and Alfred.

PUBLISHERS HIT HARD BY WAR TAXES

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The senate finance committee late yesterday took what the members expect to be final action on publishers' taxes in the war revenue bill, adopting by a vote of eight to six an increase of one-quarter of a cent a pound on second-class postage rates and an additional levy of 5 per cent. on publishers' net profits over $1000.

Revenues of $2,000,000 annually from the increase in postage rates to one and one-quarter cents a pound, which most publishers have vigorously opposed, and about $9,000,000 from the profits
tax are expected.
The increase in postage rates would apply to publishers of newspapers, magazines and all other periodicals,
including religious publications.
The committee also decided today to retain the house increase of 50 per cent. on letter rates, but tentatively agreed to strike out the doubled postcard rate. As about one billion postcards were sent last year, if the postcard increase is eliminated about $20,000,000 in revenues will be lost. The latter increase is expected to raise about $50,000,000.
In revising the excess profits tax today, deferring a decision regarding the rate of taxation, the committee decided to extend its operation to individuals in trade as well as corporations and partnerships. It also was decided to give an exemption of 6 per cent. to corporations having abnormal profits during the three year-pre-war period and a similar exemption to new corporations organized since the war began.

Reconsideration Urged

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Representatives of the American Newspaper Publishers' association today urged reconsideration by the senate finance committee of its decision to incorporate in the war revenue bill a section raising second-class mail rates to 1 1/4 cents a pound and the levying of a 5 per cent. tax on publishers' net profits over $1000 a year. The association meeting here yesterday protested against special publishers' taxes not levied on other classes of business. A half hour before the protest was presented, however, the committee approved the publishers' tax amendment.

U. S. MAY INSURE EACH SOLDIER FOR $4000

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18.—Insurance and protection of the soldier is one of the war questions now being worked out by experts of the department of commerce, who are laying plans for the insurance of every soldier sent to France.

Insuring every soldier with a $4000 policy, made out for the benefit of his dependents or next of kin, will be a gigantic job. It will make Uncle Sam one of the biggest insurance agents in the world. He will have to write the policies and assume the risks, as there is no one else in the world who would do it.

But it is not an impossible job. It is as the cost would be, it would not come anywhere near the amount the American people pay every year for insurance, which is close to a billion dollars.

Best of all, it would settle at the outset the pension nuisance which has trailed all our former wars with unending scandals, machine politics and graft on pensioners.

Uncle Sam is paying out every year about $160,000,000 in pensions, and the figure has been much higher. For all his wars he has paid $5,054,634,727 in pensions, and $181,375,055 in salaries to the pension department.

These figures make the insurance plan seem very attractive. It will be more just. It will settle the accounts between the government and the soldiers' relatives at once, and the latter will not have to wait for justice.

Ending the pension system would probably clear up politics and introduce speed and efficiency in congress more than any other measure.

Today much of the time of congress is taken up with pension matters. Nearly every congressman is in effect a pension lawyer, pushing private pension bills for his constituents.

The extent of this nuisance can be partially grasped from the following figures, which refer to the private pension bills introduced by a few members in the first 11 days of the 64th congress.

The total number of private pension bills introduced in that time was 4144, with 121 bills to change military records to facilitate private pension grabs to come later. The total of public bills for the same period was only 753.

Every private pension bill is an attempt to get something from the government, which would not be allowed under the general pension laws.

Contrast this sickening swelter of politics and politics with the scientific and profitable operation of the war risk bureau under which the United States has been insuring American merchantmen for nearly three years.

If the government can insure the ships and cargoes of its citizens, it can certainly insure its soldiers.

The private insurance companies are rather fearful of the proposed plan, but have assured the council of national defense that they will not object, if the government will undertake not to continue in the insurance business after the war.

Of course, the government will sustain a direct loss of $4000 whenever a soldier is killed, as it is planned to issue the policies free of all premiums up to that amount. The proposed government insurance bureau would, however, issue policies for amounts in excess of the $1000, on payment of premiums.

These premiums would be high, as the experience of Canadian insurance companies, which had written policies for Canadian soldiers, shows there will be tremendous losses.

JUST WAIT UNTIL DANNY GROWS UP

index of food saving or waste in your community," is the suggestion the U. S. department of agriculture is making to municipal authorities throughout the country. Where there is no official chemist, the department points out local chemists capable of determining percentages of fats, protein, starch, and organic matter wasted in garbage can render great service to the nation by volunteering to make these analyses in their localities.

Vast amounts of bread, meat, and edible fats are wasted in garbage and tons of valuable feedstuff for animals are lost to the food supply of the nation by usual garbage reduction or disposal methods. One of the first results from the careful analysis of city garbage should be the passage of more rigid enforcement of garbage-collection ordinances, requiring that no glass, tin, wood, burnt matches, paper, string, or inorganic trash be mixed with the vegetable material, meat scraps, or bones which can be used for feed.

This dual collection of garbage and trash is being rigidly enforced by Germany.

many in all cities of 40,000 people. Garbage so collected from a population of 17,000,000 people in Germany, although the German garbage pail always has been far leaner than the American one and is especially light at this period, furnished briquettes rich in protein which when fed to cattle produced 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 quarts of milk daily.

In most American cities, however, garbage is sent to reduction plants where all the fat and oil it contains is recovered for use in making soap or greases.

The residue after the oil is extracted is used as fertilizer or dumped into the ocean. This practice has been highly profitable because the American garbage pail is very rich in fat, American garbage averaging 3 per cent of fat, while German garbage rarely shows even 1 per cent of fat, as the German people never have been wasteful of animal or other fats. Another reason for the use of the reduction method is that in many cities ordinances prevent the use of garbage for feeding animals, particularly dairy cows, although there is no valid hygienic objection to the use of dried and properly sterilized garbage as food for cattle or hogs.

The department specialists believe that as the thrift idea gains ground less and less fat will be thrown into the garbage pail and are hopeful that the time is not far distant when the amount of fat will make reduction for the recovery of oils hardly worth while. This will mean that a lot of excellent and valuable foodstuff now being wasted as food will never get into the garbage pail. Even when all fat is eliminated, however, and waste of bread and cereals and meat has been reduced to a minimum, the garbage pail nevertheless will contain in the form of parings, plate scraps and trimmings a vast amount of material which should be conserved and used as feed for hogs, cattle, or poultry. First, however, the people must face the facts and know the truth of their waste, and in bringing this waste home local chemists can render effective service.

The Sunday Supplement of The Sun published every Saturday contains a red-hot sporting page contributed by leading sporting writers of the country.

MODERN METHODS FOR MOTH CONTROL

WASHINGTON, D. C., June.—The use of high-power spraying outfits for applying solid streams of liquid poisons is becoming more general in New England in the work of combating the gypsy and brown-tail moths, according to entomologists of the United States department of agriculture. By the use of such apparatus, woodland, park, and street trees 90 feet and even more in height can be covered satisfactorily with poison solutions from the ground. When the usual mist-spraying outfits are used, the operators must climb the trees—a much slower and more expensive proceeding.

The spraying of trees in New England, whether with mist or solid-stream sprays, has been effective in combating the foliage-eating insect pests of the region. Arsenate of lead in the paste form is the poison generally used. Solutions of from 10 to 12½ pounds of the chemical to each 100 gallons of water are employed.

Solid Stream Spraying
Spraying woodland by using this method requires about 500 gallons of spray solution per acre, and with a high-grade machine, properly equipped, an average of from 12 to 15 acres can be sprayed in a day. With the same outfit it is possible to treat about 400 shade trees per day and, as a rule, 400 gallons will cover about 35 trees. The cost of this treatment depends on local prices for supplies and labor.

Early Spraying Best
The spraying of shade trees with arsenate of lead, say the entomologists of the department, should be accomplished as early a date as possible after the foliage has sufficiently developed. Early spraying is not only beneficial against the gypsy moth, but will poison many brown-tail caterpillars, as they are much earlier feeders than the gypsy moth. In the case of the elm leaf beetle much is accomplished in poisoning the adult beetles, which do a small amount of feeding after coming out of hibernation before mating and laying eggs, as they are very easily poisoned at that time.

Owners and operators of spraying outfits are warned by the department's specialists that failure to take proper care of their machines is responsible for most of the difficulties and delays that result during the spraying season. This is particularly true in regard to the precautions that should be taken when the spraying season is over and the machine is laid up for the winter.

Other Control Measures
If the infestation of the gypsy moth is severe and the aim is to exterminate the pest rather than merely to hold it in check, egg clusters should be treated with creosote before spraying is begun. If infestation is in pasture land, proper precautions should be exercised so that livestock will not be poisoned. Poison notices should be placed in conspicuous places in all cases where spraying is done.

From 500 to 1000 tons of arsenate of lead and about 500 high-power solid-stream machines are now used each year in the New England states in fighting the gypsy moth. Thousands of acres of orchard and woodland park trees, in addition to approximately 20,000 miles of street trees, are being sprayed. When spraying is properly done to control the gypsy moth, very little trouble is experienced with other leaf-eating insects.

CARDINAL PLEADS FOR ABSENCE OF HATRED

"Our Country at War and We are Bound Before God to Render Fulllest Service"

Commends Red Cross—Says Catholics Will Be Loyal to Country

BOSTON, June 22.—A representative gathering from all sections of the state taxed the capacity of the Boston Opera House last evening when John McCormack appeared in a song recital under the auspices of the associate members, 9th Massachusetts Infantry, N. G.

The state and city were represented by Lieut. Gov. Coolidge and Mayor Curley. His Eminence Cardinal William H. O'Connell addressed the audience on the war situation.

Assisting Mr. McCormack were Don and McBeath, violinist, and Edwin Schneider, pianist. As McCormack appeared, Serjants McRea and Clark of Co. H, 9th Infantry, Murray and the national and state flags on the stage while the tenor sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

The address of greeting was given by Col. Logan, who presented the cardinal.

Address by Cardinal O'Connell
Cardinal O'Connell spoke of the duty of all as Americans and closed his remarks with an appeal for all to give to the Red Cross this week. He said: "I beg your leave, ladies and gentlemen, to say a word concerning the great movements which are occupying the thoughts and stirring the emotions of all America in these days. I am constantly being invited to address all sorts of assemblies and meetings on these and similar matters and, unfortunately, I can accept only very few such invitations, especially at this season when my regular occupations, always arduous enough, are more than doubled."

"So, if you will permit me I should like to say once and for all as clearly as I can what our position is in order that there may be no misunderstanding now or hereafter.

"That position may be summed up briefly as the only position possible today for every loyal American either now when we stand in the face of grave difficulties or later when perhaps even greater difficulties may confront us. Our position is founded on duty and not on emotion and that is the true of the stand which every true Catholic takes in the face of all the grave responsibilities of human life; and when as history well demonstrates the Catholic has assumed his position on the principle of duty human and divine nothing in the world can move him from it.

"Those who do not know us think that our religion is emotional—that, above all things, is precisely what it is not. Emotion is a fatal passing, evanescent. The Catholic, once having espoused any cause upon the basis of duty as a divine principle, never lets it down until the cause is justly and rightfully settled. If you want an example, you have merely to look at Catholic Poland, for centuries oppressed, partitioned, persecuted, yet still upright and demanding justice, or at Catholic Ireland, for centuries wronged, abused, maligned, and still today unconquered. Look again, under our very eyes, at the glorious little Catholic nation, Belgium, now despoiled, wrecked yet absolutely unyielding; or at the papacy, traduced, deceived, yet never flinching, never yielding.

"Surely there is more than an emotion here. It is the faith, the divine faith, in a great cause, which never dies and never fails until the wrong is righted, until injustice yields to justice.

"When Napoleon, at the height of his glory, stood and fumed in the palace at Fontainebleau before the weak, old pontiff whom he dragged from the Vatican, he made a fool of his selfish egotism, the unconquerable Pius VII gazed at the strutting tyrant, calmly folded his thin, wasted arms, looked him coolly in the face and for all answer quietly replied: 'Non Possumus.'

"No, this is one thing history makes clear: that whoever may be the personal or national temperament of a Catholic, once his duty is clear he is firm as steel and as immovable as a mountain. And that is our position today.

Poor Service to Nation

"The air is rent with a thousand strident voices, shouting hysterically a thousand different principles. All this noise and confusion is to no avail. It is nothing but emotion pressed to the point of hysteria, and only serves to confuse still more the minds of the people. Nothing will be gained by that now; and in the years to come—when peace has returned to all the earth—many will regret that we Catholics, men with their own utterances of today.

"Duty, not emotion, must control the minds and hearts of the people of America if they are to rise to the fullness of their strength in these trying times. What is that duty? Let me put it as briefly as possible. The civil authority of our nation by a perfectly legitimate act has declared war. That is a war—that means that every citizen of America, bowing to that sense of obligation which he fulfills as a citizen, must do his full and conscientious duty toward his country and for her defense.

"The manner and place by which that duty is to be accomplished is for our legitimate government to decide. Our simple and sacred duty is, obediently, to that authority. That is not emotional. Nothing will be gained by that now; and in the years to come—when peace has returned to all the earth—many will regret that we Catholics, men with their own utterances of today.

"He will not be found waving flags, shouting about patriotism. Perhaps when the call comes, even tears will bedim his eyes, but he will go out quietly from the house of peace, with the marching millions. He will kneel for God's blessing as he goes. He may not go lightly, but he will go with the highest and most solemn duty. He will go, nevertheless, grimly determined to do his full measure for America just because America has called him for his fullest service. It will be those quiet, determined men with God in their hearts upon whose courage America must most rely.

Hate No One; Hisspe No One
"We have done once for all with these bewildering orations, with these endless insinuations, for if they aim to fire men's courage, they only increase their confusion. The one thing now that is necessary and the only thing that will stand firmly through all the varying vicissitudes of war, is that we will be this principle—our country is at war and we are bound before God to render it our fullest service. Hate no one, despise no one, and duty toward those who suffer the effects of war is equally clear.

"That position once clear, our country may feel assured of the absolute loyalty of all her children. That is our position with regard to this war, with regard to every war, and our duty toward those who suffer the effects of war is equally clear.

"If today our faith must be stronger than ever, so must our charity be wider and more generous than ever. Our brave young men will need a million consolations tomorrow which today we must supply. While they are performing nobly and loyally their duty we must see to it that we are not lacking in ours. All the consolations of our holy faith and everything that human ingenuity can devise for the lessening of pain and suffering must be provided by us generously and adequately.

Commends Red Cross
"We must stand along with the brave hearts who go to fight under the stars and stripes of our nation another band of kindly generous hearts that go to serve under the holy banner of the Red Cross, and our duty is to solemnly charge these responsible to see that that banner of the Cross is kept holy. The Cross is a religious symbol. We to those who desertate it by pettiness or bigotry or shameful vanity or dissension. Let that standard be set up wherever there is danger or suffering and there let it present at the hour of need, all the largeness, all the purity of the love of Christ for suffering humanity.

"To make that possible, let us all give and give generously so that from the very beginning the treasury of mercy will be full to overflowing. It is the time for the rich to be princely in their generosity, but I know that even the poorest among us will not be satisfied unless he has given something out of his poverty. Somehow it is the blessed pennies of the poor which God most heartily blesses.

"Let us do our duty to the Red Cross now, and when next Sunday comes we shall go before our altar and kneel and say: 'Lord, what I could do, that I have done, and Lord, dear Lord, grant to the tired world soon, very soon, thy blessed gift of peace.'

SHEESLEY SHOWS PROVE GREAT ATTRACTION

That the carnival is a complex plaything, full of phylings, queer people from all sections of the earth, affording pleasure to the masses who are compelled to earn a livelihood by the sweat of the brow, and who here find recreation and pleasure. It is very soon apparent that such a combination as Mr. Sheesley presents will outlive any other form of outdoor amusement.

The shows, rides and concessions are not different from those seen at the parks and resorts of the larger cities, except the plants are portable, and can be carried from one city to another. Mr. Sheesley carries over four hundred people, all of whom find plenty to do to erect, manage and perform the various functions of his show. The wild animal show, is a complete circus, and is so much appreciated that standing room is at par every evening. It is a great place to study natural history. That so-called man ape, which is a cross between the chimpanzee and gorilla, the largest of the greater apes, is a lesson to paybody. It doesn't seem possible that such a creature could exist and without making progress even in its home in the wilds. Mr. Sheesley spent ten thousand dollars to secure this specimen and has expended fifty thousand dollars in the last twelve months to make his attractions the very best that could be secured. The great throngs which are attending every night are proof of the correctness of his prophecy that "people don't want to be fooled, and won't suffer foolery nor patronize a fool who so tries to fool the world." The shows will come to a close Saturday night as all contracts have been made holding the show in commission until December. This year the winter quarters will be at New Orleans, La.

FIRE DEPT. DRILLS NEEDED

Our local fire department has been very fortunate in having no very great fires during the past few years. Whether this has been due to the promptitude with which the department stamps out incipient fires or to fortuitous circumstances is not quite certain; but in all fairness the credit should go to the fire department for the reason that the causes of fires are as numerous as ever and most of the property in Lowell is just as inflammable as that of other cities.

But, this absence of great fires is liable to get our firemen accustomed to a state of inactivity in which they would not be in condition to handle a large conflagration. Suppose the operatives on the top floor of one of our highest mills were marooned by fire, would the fire department be prepared on a moment's notice to take them down or even to reach them?

How many firemen in Lowell could use the scaling ladder on a high building and make rescues as did the Boston firemen in a recent fire in that city?

We have never seen anything of the kind done here and we doubt if anybody else has. Why not drill the firemen in rescue work from high buildings? They may not be required to do anything of the kind for years; and yet we know not the day nor the hour when such a stunt may be necessary to save lives.

If the fire commissioner would spend as much time in arranging drills for the firemen as he does in legal battles, trying to oust officials from city hall, the fire department would be more efficient, and better prepared to handle a big fire whenever it comes. Moreover, the citizens do not feel that the best interests of the city are served when the chief of the fire department is frequently called upon to serve as chauffeur for the commissioner in charge of the department. The firemen are in great need of exercise; they suffer from inactivity. Why not have drills during the summer weather in which they can practice the most difficult things they would have to do at a great fire. One thing in which they should be well trained but in which there is too often a lot of fumbling, is the very simple task of getting a stream on the fire in the shortest time possible. Failure in this respect caused the loss of the block in which was located the old city library on Merrimack street.

Bungling with a water tower that the men could not handle caused the loss of the old Card Clothing building on Shattuck street. Few firemen of today may remember these incidents, but the writer was a spectator in both cases and remembers with what disgust the assembled crowd watched the inexcusable delay. In case of the Merrimack street fire, the blaze started in the basement and the firemen were so careful of the property that they hesitated for a considerable time before breaking the basement window to get a stream upon the fire. During this delay the flames were leaping upward into the library. There were many similar delays, one of which occurred in the fire that destroyed the O'Donnell & Gilbride store.

There was much criticism also of the manner in which the fire that swept the Memorial building was handled. There the city library was again visited by fire and one of the most valuable of the city's buildings almost destroyed. That was a case in which the firemen should have shown the best work of which they are capable, but there was a very noticeable lack of teamwork.

We mention these things to show that it is necessary to have all the men drilled in the quickest and most effective use of the apparatus they will be called upon to handle in a conflagration.

If Commissioner Brown devoted his time to seeing that such drills were carried out, or if he allowed Chief Saunders to conduct such drills instead of spending a considerable part of his time in the menial duties of chauffeur to the overhead commissioner, we should have a more efficient department, greater security for life and property and a much lower fire loss.

IMPRISON OR BANISH

If a man within the prescribed age fails to register, he leaves himself liable to the severe sentence of a federal court and in a way the federal courts are inexorable.

Some idea of how they treat violators of the law may be gained from the case of Louis Kramer of New York. This man was sentenced by Judge Mayer the other day to pay a very heavy fine and serve a term in the penitentiary for opposing the conscription law and failing to register. But the final part of the sentence provided that after the term of imprisonment is concluded, Kramer shall be deported.

To the man who has any appreciation of American citizenship, that would be the worst part of the punishment, but to one who is an anarchist, banishment means very little. The anarchist claims no country as his own and in his eyes all governments are bad.

If the punishment seems stern, it must be remembered the offense was great. America in the past has opposed her gates wide to all who would enter. It made the privilege of citizenship comparatively easy. In return, the least that could be expected was obedience to the laws of the land and loyal service in time of national trial and peril.

Kramer was willing to render neither obedience nor service. He went further and sought to have others behave in a treasonable way. He got exactly what he deserved. There are others who deserve the same punishment and they are likely to get it. Those who evade registration and who go about stirring up opposition to the government and sympathy for the enemy, should have no leniency from the government. There has been too much tolerance of anarchy, social revolutionists, socialism and other cults which avowedly seek the overthrow of the government. Those who have openly boasted of their anarchistic principles and of what they were doing against the government, should receive the same punishment as Kramer.

THE RED CROSS

Editor Sun, Dear Sir: Is there any truth in the rumor now in circulation that the Red Cross discriminated against a certain military organization in Boston with which Col. Logan is connected?

Very truly yours,

H. F. C.

The rumor in question is based upon a very indiscreet remark made by a woman who had rendered generous assistance to the Red Cross and who did not represent the organization in any official way. There has been altogether too much notice taken of this casual statement.

We believe the Red Cross is thoroughly fair to all classes, all races and all creeds. Its principles are too broad to admit of anything like sectionalism. But when anybody is disinclined to contribute it is easy to find a pretext. Cardinal O'Donnell's endorsement of the Red Cross should silence such critics.

Would you send an angel of mercy to the side of the wounded and dying, with succor, sympathy and relief? If so, then contribute to the Red Cross, organized for this work of mercy and seeking only the opportunity to minister to suffering humanity in this terrible war.

The letter of King Albert of Belgium to President Wilson, presenting the Belgian mission, breathed the spirit of true patriotism and unflinching valor. Albert is one of the kings for whom the people have real love because he is one of them.

If the released Sinn Feiners start more trouble in Ireland, they will destroy all prospect of home rule or any other concession, yet some people, chiefly of German sympathies, applaud this policy as politically wise.

The Kaiser's attention is so much occupied by other things that perhaps he doesn't know which club is leading over here in each of the big leagues.

Met His Match An Englishman thinking to have a jest at Pat when he met him driving a horse with a jump on its legs, asked: "What are your horses?" "Nothing," said Pat. "Then why has he that lump on his leg?" "O," said Pat, "it was longer than the others and I put a knot in it."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

New Meaning of "H. C." The exploration party from the far east had dumped themselves with their tame professor in the "Cannytown" and were giving nightly pictures to the populace.

"This corner stone," observed the professor one night, indicating a slab of marble at his side, "belongs to the ancient library which I and my colleagues discovered in the ancient land of Neverwas. You will notice on close inspection that it is inscribed '400 B. C.' Now what do you suppose that means?"

"It means," said the professor, "that the red caped owl, who seemed to wish to answer his query."

"It can mean but one thing," said the red caped owl conclusively: "De-fore Carnegie!"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Lover's Request

It was to be his last call. They stood on the porch in the moonlight. "You are determined?" he said, finally.

"Yes, George, I think it is for the best that we do not see each other again."

"Do you love another?"

"No, George. I have promised my heart to Harold Updyke."

There was a moment's silence. George stepped back and drew from his pocket a revolver, which glinted in the pale light.

"George, George," shrieked the girl. "What do you intend to do?" she looked at him in horror.

"Not a great deal," replied George calmly. "I have been calling on you for the last six months, Evelyn, and I have only exterminated about half the dogs in this neighborhood. I want you to take this gun and give it to Updyke. He may want to finish the rest of them."—Puck.

Locked Up His "Medicine"

"You had better lock that garage while there are so many men around here," said a north side householder who was having some work done about his place. So his wife went down obediently at 10 o'clock and locked the garage.

"Missus," said an old colored man, as he touched his hat at the door an hour later. "I left some of my medicine in your garage and the door is locked."

After much searching for the key, which she had mislaid, the lady of the house found it and let the colored man into the garage. He searched for a long time and then yelled to his partner: "Sam, where did you put that medicine of mine?"

In obedience to this question Sam came in and after much rummaging around he drew forth a bottle, flat, to fit the pocket, with contents resembling tea, but whose label indicated something stronger. At this discovery the two chuckled quite audibly, and in quite of all she could do, the "missus" did, too.—Indianapolis News.

An Off Day for Safety Razors Among the endlessly strange types to be found in all big cities is the person who never knows his place. One of them spoiled the entire afternoon for a young woman who was at work in the window of a Sixth avenue drug store in New York.

The young woman was busily demonstrating a safety razor which, when properly used, will remove anything from a Van Dyke to a barbed wire entanglement. She would go through the motions of shaving with the patented beautifier and after each exercise would hold up small signs which explained all.

A ponderous man, very tall, very wide and unquestionably thick, stopped in front of the window. He had a full beard, and as the Tuscan police chiefs used to fancy before Mr. Romanoff got out of work. Briefly, he was no customer for a safety razor at all, he was just killing time and reading the signs out of sheer morbid curiosity.

One of the periodical throngs gathered about the window and proceeded to peek over the arms, around the sides and—by giving each other a lift—over the shoulders of the bearded blockhead. He was clearly operating in restraint of trade. Finally the young woman called back to someone in the store, obtained a pencil and wrote in black letters on the back of one of the signs the following polite message: "Get out of the way!"

She pointed her right index finger right between the eyes of the large man, and he, after a surprised glance about him, creaked up Sixth avenue. Furthermore, the throng followed him, proving that it was an off day for the safety razor business in Sixth avenue.

O.M.I. CADETS TO MEET THIS EVENING

All branches of the O.M.I. Cadets—the infantry, naval reserve and the drum corps will meet at the armory in East Merrimack street, tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Major Conroy will have an important announcement to make, and he expects every member of the organization to be present. Plans for the Sunday drill will be made and other matters will be discussed. The arrangements for the annual encampment will also be acted upon. Many new members were enrolled last week, and they made their first appearance at the military mass last Sunday.

These will, of course, be given considerable drilling, in order to have them ready for the maneuvers in connection with "camp week."

RUSSIAN MISSION TO THE UNITED STATES (M. BORIS BARNHETIEFF, HEAD OF MISSION, IN CENTER)

RUSSIANS HERE TO TELL US HOW COUNTRIES MAY CO-OPERATE

The Russian mission, headed by Boris Barnhetieff, shown at the center of this picture, is housed in the home of Hennen Jennings in Washington. The photograph was made at the door of the Jennings home.

The work of the mission is observed with more than ordinary interest because of the internal situation facing the new Russian democracy. The mission is understood, has full powers of negotiation and serves as a Russian counterpoint to the American mission now in Petrograd under the leadership of Elinor Root. Since its departure from the Russian capital five weeks ago it has kept fully in touch with the situation by cable and wireless and is fully enough informed to discuss the situation in detail.

Russia is said to need above all organization, munitions, supplies and railroad materials. The Russian mission, together with the Stevens railroad commission now in Russia, will, it is believed, offer many suggestions along these lines, and the Russian mission here will suggest others from its experience in this country.

The Trip of a Lifetime —To Yellowstone National Park

At least once in your life you should see the Yellowstone—and to get the most out of it you should be well informed in advance.

Let me tell you how very comfortably and directly you can go there; about the through trains; about the different ways you can live there delightfully for a few weeks; about the expense of the trip; what you can do and what you can see; how Nature unfolds itself as in no other part of the world.

And, in particular, let me tell you about that delightful automobile ride, either going or coming, over the Cody Road. That ride is worth the whole trip in itself—a wonderful panorama of mountains, valleys, streams and canyons that will live with you for life. I can tell you a great deal about the trip, and will gladly help in any way possible—for that's what I'm here for. Call at the office or write today if possible, for illustrated booklet—worth reading even if you don't go.

POLICE HERO GOES TO BATTLEFIELD

Acting Detective Sergeant Martin S. Owens, attached to the auto squad at New York police headquarters, was selected by Commissioner Woods to drive the ambulance which the New York police honor legion will send to France in a few months. There was great rivalry among the eligible men for the appointment.

Owens is thirty-three years old and has been on the force ten years, a perfect record for department during that period being combined with several courageous performances. On May, 1911, he rescued a number of women and children from a burning tenement in Eldridge street at a great personal risk, for which he received the medal of the Automobile club of America. He was commended this year for his work in founding up automobile thieves.

Owens will wear a police uniform while driving the ambulance. His salary and expenses will be paid by Vincent Astor.

AMERICAN AND CANADIAN FLAGS AT ST. PAUL'S, LONDON

ST. PAUL'S ASSUMES CARE OF YANKEE BATTLEFLAG

This photograph depicts one of the scenes attending the depositing of the American and Canadian flags in St. Paul's cathedral, London. Walter H. Page, and Mrs. Page, the American ambassador and his wife, were among those at St. Paul's cathedral when the colors of the American legion of the Canadian expeditionary force were deposited. The colors were handed by Mrs. Page to Canon Alexander and Archdeacon Holmes. After they had been laid on the altar they were carried in procession and hung in the north transept. At the conclusion of the services a verse of "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung, followed by the British national anthem. The picture shows members of the American legion with the colors on the steps of St. Paul's cathedral.

BIG MARATHON RACE HERE ON JULY 4

The annual parish reunion and field day of the Sacred Heart parishioners scheduled to take place on Moore street, July 4, promises to be the banner event among the numerous festivities in contemplation for the local celebration of Independence day.

In addition to the patriotic exercises being planned for the occasion, and the numerous attractions interspersed throughout the beautiful grounds, an extremely interesting program of athletic events will be carried out. Universal interest throughout the city is being manifested in the big marathon race which is anticipated with the leading event, in connection with the sporting program. Several entries for this big event have been received, and the committee anticipate at least thirty "marathoners" will participate. Five substantial prizes have been donated for the winners of this race, and a closely contested event is looked for. As this marathon race is for the championship of Lowell, none but local runners will be permitted to participate. The route to be covered by the participants in this feature is as follows: Starting at the pumping station on West Sixth street, over the Moody street bridge to Moody street, to Merrimack street, to Central, to Gorham, to Moore, to Agawam, to St. James streets, finishing on the grounds immediately inside the St. James street entrance.

The committee on sports, composed of Michael Wren, Chester Hargis, Martin Phelan, Michael Slattery, and John R. Higgins, are leaving nothing undone to give the Sacred Heart parishioners and their hosts of friends, a record day's entertainment. Entries for the marathon race should be addressed to Mr. Michael Wren, 20 Auburn St.

Tells It to the Plant Juice Man

James H. Dyer, 21 Laurel Street, Lowell, Says Plant Juice Has Benefited Him

"Stomach trouble is simply a name given to designate a variety of pains," said the Plant Juice Man, who has his headquarters at Dows, the Drug-gist's in Merrimack Square, in a recent interview.

"I can only be reached by a systematic treatment. It is true that the pains can be eased with narcotics, or the poisonous acids can be neutralized for the time being. Such methods are only temporary at best, and do not even insure permanent results, for as soon as the effect of the narcotic wears away, the sufferer is in precisely the same condition as before.

There is a standard remedy, Plant Juice, which is purely herbal, designed for just such ills as stomach, liver and kidney trouble. It contains only extracts from purely medicinal plants, and is absolutely free from minerals, narcotics or other injurious poisons.

Since its introduction here many people are calling out of gratitude, to thank me for what Plant Juice has done for them.

Mr. James H. Dyer, of No. 21 Laurel street, who is a popular employee of a large electrical firm in Lowell, recently gave the following account of his troubles for the past 15 years with his stomach; I had fermentation of food, gas on the stomach, and had no appetite whatever. I had headaches, was dizzy and had terrible pains in the pit of my stomach. I was constipated and had to take some kind of a laxative all the time which gave me no real benefit. I could not sleep at night and got very weak and run down. After taking Plant Juice for several weeks I can truthfully say that I am surprised and delighted with the effect it had on my system. I am now able to eat anything I want and digest it. I sleep well, and have no more pains or aches. I cannot praise Plant Juice too highly.

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Drug-gist's in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

On Saturday he will remain at the store until 10 p. m. to meet those who are unable to call during the day.

THE RING EASY SAW IT By SPIDER KELLY

You often hear people say how great a fighter Jack Johnson was.

He was a great boxer, all right, but I recall a little incident which proved that he was cautious unless very certain of his man.

Some years back I had Tom Sharkey, Bob Armstrong and Jack Johnson in a boxing ring. We showed in Denver and put Johnson against Billy Stiff. Now Stiff was a light heavy and only a good puncher. Yet as we did to get Johnson to go on in and fight, he stayed away from Stiff and we only got a draw.

I figured Johnson should have won easily and urged him to go after Stiff. But he seemed fearful of Stiff's punch and refused to take a chance. Johnson was a boxer, but there have been many greater fighters than the ex-champ.

Ends and the fast, Ballardvale A.A. team. The visitors will be accompanied by a large aggregation of fans who expect to see their team carry off the game, but the Lowell fans are confident that when the smoke of battle clears away the colors of Harry Pitts' boys will be floating high in the air. But those who think that the local team has a sure thing should not be over-confident, for the Ballardvale team that lost but one game this season and that was to the C.M.A.C. of this city.

In addition to the ball game, diamond sports aplenty are to be presented and an players of the amateur ball team of the city are eligible to enter, some good sport should be provided. There will be fudge hitting, base running, racing to first and around the bases, distance throwing and all that goes with the national game. made them all the more interesting. The admission will be 15 cents. The Middlesex Training school band will furnish music for the day and will be accompanied by about 75 boys from the school.

HIGHLAND CLUB OUTING
At the annual outing of the Highland club held at the Martin Luther grounds in Tyngsboro yesterday one of the pleasing features of the day was the music of a 12-piece orchestra under the direction of W. Alonzo Owen. The orchestra played almost continuously throughout the afternoon, and added much to the success of the affair.

In the afternoon the baseball game between the single men and the handicaps was won by the latter, 4 to 3. Other sports were also carried out and furnished entertainment for those present.

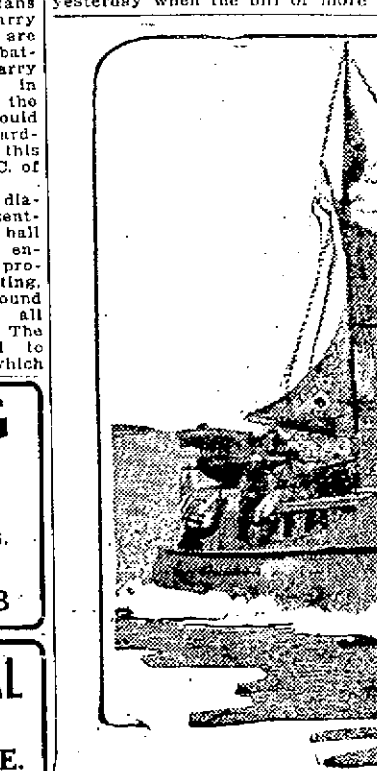

At 9 o'clock a lobster dinner was served in the cool pine woods in the rear of the club house. The lobsters had been boiled on the grounds and were particularly tasty. Early in the evening the party broke up, and the return trip was made to Lowell in automobiles.

President A. G. McCarthy was the general manager of the affair and his assistants were Walter H. Emmott, George Collins, J. Butler Goodell, Dr. H. E. Davis, Charles C. Cooke, Fred G. Leary and Thomas C. Corcoran.

OSSIFREE, N. H., June 22.—The fight to save the life of Frederick L. Small of Mountainville, now under sentence to be hanged Jan. 15 next for murder of his wife Florence Arleen (Curry) Small on Sept. 23 last, was commenced yesterday when the bill of exceptions was filed with Judge John Kivel, by William S. Mathews and Sidney F. Stevens of Small's counsel. This is the first step in an attempt to secure a new trial. The exceptions covered 31 typewritten pages.

Judge Kivel set July 3, at 2 p. m., for the hearing on the bill of exceptions.

WITH THE ARMY AND NAVY

President Wilson has issued a proclamation calling for 70,000 volunteers for the regular army. The week of June 24 has been designated as a recruiting week for this particular branch of the service, and at the local station in Central street preparations are being made to receive a large number of enlistments during this period. Last April when war was declared, army officials decided that in order to bring the service to war strength by June 30, it would be necessary to enlist over 154,000 men. At yet only a little over 127,000 recruits have been enrolled, and hence the call for 70,000 to fill the ranks. This proclamation and call for volunteers in the Civil War, and there is no reason why it cannot be answered with as great enthusiasm. The local station will be open every night and on Sundays from now on until the desired number has been enrolled.

Several Lowell men have recently enlisted at the various recruiting stations in Boston. Among them are William P. Reagan of 206 South Street, who enlisted in the army, and Joseph E. Viera of 43 Grove street, and Eugene A. Fitzgerald of 833 Broadway, both of whom enlisted in the navy. Michael J. McDermott of 7 Finner street has passed the examination at the local army station, and will leave for Fort Slocum, N. Y., next Monday. Wilfred Brochu of Methuen, and Albert E. Viera of Haverhill have made applications at the local station to enter the army, but have not yet been accepted.

Robert M. Carpenter of Hudson has enlisted in the navy from the Lowell station. This enlistment is the result of one of the automobile expeditions which the local officers have been conducting.

At the Westford street army things are beginning to take on a new lease of life. Last night three men from Newburyport—Comp. Taine and Privates Quigley and Ginnivan—under the direction of Sergt. McDermott, conducted a recruiting campaign, and as a result six more men are awaiting acceptance.

PRIVATE RAYMOND DOWD IS ENJOYING CAMP LIFE AT CAMP DARLING

The following letter from Private Raymond E. Dowd, formerly of the Sun composing room and now in camp at Framingham, speaks for itself:

Camp Darling,
June 20, 1917.
Framingham, Mass.

Editor of The Sun:
We have now been in camp four days and the "rookies" are beginning to look more like soldiers every day. Nearly every man in all three local companies is fully equipped and they certainly do make a fine appearance. We arise at 5:30 or a little later, for every man has to be up and ready to fall in at 6:15 for assembly. That is the raising of colors and roll call. Breakfast call comes at 7 and as soon as breakfast is over and the men have washed their mess kit, police duty is in order. Police duty is cleaning the company street. At 8 we have our setting up exercises which last until 10:30. Then the men are drilled in the different squad formations. We then have short lectures on the duties of a soldier. The lectures are delivered by the different officers of the regiments. We have been addressed twice so far by Col. Sweetser who gave very interesting instructions on hygiene.

Major Dolan also told us how to care for rifles and other things important in military life, in a talk today. Light shakedown of our company gives us short talks every morning and they are of great benefit to the men. We stop drilling at 1:30. Dinner comes at 12 and at 1:30 we again start our afternoon drill. We go through code signals nearly all afternoon and at 4 we are dismissed until 10 o'clock. Every man is compelled to be in bed at 10 o'clock and all lights out or somebody is apt to receive extra detail or have his privileges suspended.

The mess is very good in our company and if one did not have on a khaki uniform, he would imagine he was home. The cooking is so good. Mess Sergeant Nichols has charge of the mess and the cooking is done by Cook Mularky.

All Company C boys send their regards to their Lowell friends, and I extend my greetings to all my former co-workers on "The Sun" and would like to have them visit our camp, when old timers say is the best they were ever in.

Private Raymond E. Dowd,
Co. C, 6th Mass. Infantry,
Camp Darling, Framingham, Mass.

$63,818 COLLECTED FOR RED CROSS WORK Armed American Steamer Defeats Submarine in Lively Battle Off Liverpool

At today's noonday meeting of the Red Cross workers the sum of $63,818 was reported as the amount which had been collected since the last meeting Wednesday noon. This brings Lowell's total up to $63,818. The largest amounts reported today were: Town of Westford, $3335; Ipswich mills, $2090; town of Chelmsford, $1934; Hon. Chas. H. Allen, $1000; Hamilton Co. employees, (partial contribution) $554; E. A. Fletcher, $500; Lowell Electric Light Co., $500; Dr. John's Medicine Co., $500; Lowell Fertilizer Co., $500; Hobson & Co., $500. Town 8 which is covering the suburban towns provided the largest of today's meeting when its captain, Edward Fisher, announced that the total since Wednesday afternoon, Hon. Charles H. Allen was the largest individual subscriber reported at today's meeting. He gave $1000.

The Red Cross buttons, which are given to all the subscribers to the amount of $1 or over and which to become members of the Red Cross society, are going fast. Yesterday Chairman R. F. Madden and John H. Murphy secured 9000 buttons and then at the local headquarters at 119 Merrimack street for any of the workers who desire to make use of them. A number of the mills have put in requisitions for a large number of these buttons.

A number of changes in the list of town workers from that published earlier in the week have been announced. Abel H. Campbell is at Town 1, and is looking after the real estate men, deputy sheriffs, and constables. John K. Whittier is soliciting from machine shops, foundries, etc.; John Dwyer is covering the painters and decorators; Henry Kossman is conducting a campaign at the factories of T. Martin & Bros., J. A. Dalympie, and the Deavitt E. Co. C. Marshall Forrest and E. C. Dunbar will speak the word to the wood workers and lumber dealers.

Edward Fisher, who is conducting a campaign in the country towns, is meeting with great success. Yesterday he visited Reading, Wakefield, Stoneham, and the surrounding towns in an auto kindly lent for the purpose by W. A. Mitchell. Framingham, Pepperell and towns in their vicinity will send in the report of their contributions through Lowell.

The next meeting of the workers will be held Monday evening. This will be the final meeting, and it Lowell is to do her full share in the campaign a number of large subscriptions must be forthcoming immediately. The smaller subscriptions are welcome, but it will be practically impossible for the whole sum to be realized unless a number of thousand dollar offerings are sent in.

Campaign Committee's Appeal
The Red Cross War Fund campaign committee has sent out the following appeal to the people of Lowell:
"If Lowell is to do its share in this campaign for the American Red Cross, some men who have not yet contributed according to their means must be reached. The whole task cannot fall on the great mass of smaller contributions which are coming in so wonderfully. Don't be slow to put that extra dollar on your donation figure. This is no time to be negligent. If you were ever going to do it, now is your time to do it. The record is clear. You read how other cities like Lowell have already exceeded their allotment while Lowell is far behind. Don't wait for the sound of the guns to have your sense of duty stirred. The Red Cross is your soldier's next friend on the field of battle. Your contribution will go where you want—directly into the fight. He one of those to wear the Red Cross button to show that if you are not wearing the uniform and joining in the battles, you have had a hand in the war by making the American Red Cross able to do its duty."

The contest between Chicago and Cleveland for second place was the spectacular feature of the day's reports. Chicago still held her lead but by a small margin.

Chicago's figures totaled $2,411,184 and those of Cleveland $2,240,505.

ACTIVITY ON RUSSIAN FRONT
VIENNA, June 21, via London, June 22.—After many weeks of inactivity on the Russian front, heavy guns have been brought into operation and general activity is reported in today's official statement.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, June 22.—The captain of an American steamer which just arrived at an Atlantic port reported today that he believed that his steamer had sunk a U-boat on June 4 when two days out from Liverpool en route to an Atlantic port.

Beyond this statement the captain would not vouchsafe any information. A story written by the wireless operator said:

"We discharged our cargo at Liverpool and left for our homeward voyage on June 1. We were running at night without lights. The guns were cleared for action and we hoped we would be lucky enough going back as we were going over."

"We saw one submarine June 4. One British ship—her wireless call was T.L.O., but her name was not listed in the international radio stations of the world—sent a signal of distress which we picked up. She reported she was attacked by a submarine."

"The British ship was exchanging shots with the submarine for about a half-hour. When they reported by wireless the submarine had submerged. I heard S.O.S. from another British vessel, the Manchester Port. She reported she was being attacked by a submarine. She was fighting at close range. After 20 minutes of hard fighting the submarine again submerged and the Manchester Port at 6.18 p. m. wireless she was O.K., and not damaged."

"We could plainly see the shells from these British vessels as they dropped, but could not see the submarine with whom they were fighting, with or without glasses."

"After the second unsuccessful attempt to sink the two ships, we considered we were apparently out of danger."

Struck by Torpedo
"About twenty minutes after passing an empty life boat, or about 6.30 p. m. ship's time, one of the guns sighted a torpedo headed straight for us. He shouted to the bridge: 'Here she comes, torpedo, port side!'"

"The chief officer shouted to the quartermaster, 'hard starboard and we swung off. The torpedo struck us on the port side a glancing blow amidships right near the engine room. Simultaneously the ship's whistle blew short and successive blasts, which was the signal to abandon ship and save the lifeboats."

"I then sent out a signal of distress, which was picked up by the Manchester Port."

TOTAL FOR RED CROSS $62,284,982
WASHINGTON, June 22.—With the hundred million dollars for humanity almost in sight the Red Cross war council realized today that the last stretch of the great financial campaign is going to be the hardest. The latest figures before the reports which always come in from the noon meetings held in the cities shown the grand total to be $62,284,982 with New York city's total standing at $26,562,582.

The north central states held their lead today with a total of over $15,000,000; the middle Atlantic states came next with over nine million and a half; New England followed with nearly four million and a half; the west came in with four millions and a little over two hundred thousand. The south still held fifth place with almost two million.

THE ENGAGEMENT BETWEEN THE FRENCH AND GERMANS
The engagement between the French and Germans which opened Wednesday by a German attack near Vauxaillier, southeast of Laon, is being continued spiritedly by the artillery, the infantry fighting having temporarily died down.

Paris today reports an extension of the artillery duel eastward from Vauxaillier. It was raging approximately ten miles as far as the vicinity of Bray-en-Laonnois, reaching what the official report characterizes as "extreme intensity."

The infantry battle after initial successes for the German crown prince came to a halt after his troops had lost virtually everything they had gained. Only one small salient remained to the Germans. Resumption of attacks by one side or the other, and along a narrow front, appears an early probability.

In the Champagne
In the Champagne also heavy fighting is in progress. After the disappointing result of yesterday's attack by the Germans between Mont Cornillet and Mont Blanc, in which the crown prince's forces were not only repulsed but afterwards driven night their own post positions, they attacked again last night, this time at Teton height. This assault also failed. Paris

BERNE, SWITZERLAND, June 22.—The election of Gustav Ador, member of the national council and president of the international Red Cross to succeed Dr. Arthur Hoffmann, the resigned member of the federal council following his attempt to open peace negotiations between Russia and Germany, appears assured.

COPENHAGEN, June 22.—A Budapest despatch says that the Hungarian socialist has received a telegram from N. C. Tchelliss, the Russian socialist leader, announcing the convocation by the Petrograd Council of Workers' and Soldiers' delegates of an international socialist conference at Stockholm from June 25 to July 8.

WASHINGTONT, June 22.—The Belgian mission was received today in the senate chamber with a great demonstration. An address by Baron Moncheur, head of the mission, expressing Belgium's gratitude for American aid and sympathy elicited frequent applause. Afterward all senators were introduced to members of the mission.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The police today began dealing with the suffrage pickets about the White House with a firm hand. It was ordered that no banners were to be permitted to be displayed and 30 policemen were stationed about the White House fence to enforce the order.

Miss Lucy Burns of New York and Miss Katherine Morley of Boston, carriers of a banner, who refused to move from in front of one of the White House gates, were arrested and taken to police headquarters.

"You'll have to move and give up your banner," said one of the policemen to Miss Burns.

"This is private property," the suffragist leader replied, "and you have no right to take it away."

"Wouldn't you rather give it up than be taken in?" said one of the police matrons.

"We don't intend to give it up," said Miss Burns. "You have no right to take it. Our position is logical and constitutional and yours is illogical and unconstitutional."

The policemen then escorted the two women, who made no further protest, to a private automobile and they were hurried to headquarters.

At headquarters the two banner carriers were informed that they had been arrested for blocking traffic and unlawful assemblage. They were released on their own recognizance and no date was set for trial.

It developed that the suffragists took banners out again today, and that they had planned to surprise the police. Instead of banners bearing inscriptions, characterized as "treasonable" and "defensive," they bore banners inscribed with phrases from some of President Wilson's addresses to congress, referring to the dedication of America to the rights of democracy.

The suffragists issued a statement insisting that Miss Burns and Miss Morley were arrested in a peaceful manner and only stood on their rights as citizens "to advance their cause by means of reasonable argument."

The banner which led to the arrests today carried this sentence, from President Wilson's war message:

"We will fight for the things we have always held nearest our hearts: for democracy—for the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own government."

Leaders of suffrage headquarters were undecided after the arrest of Miss Burns and Miss Morley, whether another effort would be made to display a banner.

The banner carriers are willing to co-operate with him in his readiness to a close. Mr. Dowd said Mr. Blackman is now in conference with the officials of the road in Boston.

Inasmuch as we are affiliated with the Federation System of the Boston & Maine railroad," continued Mr. Dowd, "the situation may become acute in a few days. Local 219, which has been addressed by the International Department Organizer George Doyle of Worcester."

"The Carmen and the Sheet Metal Workers are ready to co-operate with us in our strike and they are ready at a moment's notice to quit their work in order to abolish slave-driving methods, which have been in vogue for the past year and a half. We are not asking that General Foreman Stevens be discharged, but we want the company to take him away from the boiler shop. What is done with him after we get rid of him we don't care."

Another meeting of the strikers will be held tomorrow afternoon at 10 o'clock in the same hall and every day until such time as the strike is brought to a close. According to many of the strikers it is probable that all the other craftsmen employed at the car shops will be out before the middle of next week.

POOL TABLES FOR CREWS OF U. S. DESTROYERS
BASE OF AMERICAN FLOTILLA IN BRITISH WATERS, June 22.—(By The Associated Press)—Two American pool tables reached this picturesque old village today. They are the first American tables ever seen here and attracted a great deal of attention. The tables are being loaned to the shore homes of the crews of the American destroyers which have been named the United States naval men's club and which is being loaned with funds provided by American business men in London and New York.

Although the dormitory feature of the clubhouse which will provide sleeping accommodations for 75 men will not be completed for a month the clubhouse will be formally opened on Saturday night. Moving pictures will share the honors with a vaudeville program. The program has been printed by the destroyers' printers and announces songs, dances, recitations and wrestling matches by the most marvelous sagacity from Great Britain that ever set foot in anybody else's country."

A moving picture machine from one of the ships has been installed and the crew of the destroyer fleet is busy practicing for its share in the entertainment. Another feature will be a minstrel show by a troupe of comedians who were formerly on the battleship. The sailors were busy today putting the finishing touches to their clubhouse which was formerly a public bath house and which they have converted into a hall which seats nearly 1000 persons.

Under the balcony, which skirts the walls the ship carpenters have constructed a series of little alcoves, each covered with a red and white striped awning. The interior of each corner with a painting of Old Glory interlarded with the allies colors. The operations are being superintended by the sailors.

When the clubhouse is completed the men will enjoy the accommodations of a first class club, including a canteen where American officers and refreshments may be purchased at pre-war prices. Shower baths will be another luxury.

DEVICE SAVES RAILROADS $100,000,000

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June—An old time railway fireman here has just done his bit toward industrial preparedness by perfecting a device which will reduce the national locomotive boiler repair bill by $65,000,000 annually.

His name is Charles S. Coleman. He was firing as far back as 1862 when Atlantic and Pacific were used by rail, and when buffalo used to block the ten-kettle engines on the plains.

His invention is a new "flue-point" to strengthen leaky flues, hitherto the weakest link in locomotive construction.

W. F. Charlton, general boiler inspector of the S.P.L.A. and Salt Lake, R.R. Co., says the Coleman flue-point will save approximately $100,000,000 maintenance on every one of the 60,000 locomotives in use in this country today.

Tight flues will make possible methods for lessening fuel consumption and the saving of time now lost in repair shops. This will bring the annual saving to the roads well up to $100,000,000 a year.

Backed by Finley Shephard, vice-president of the Missouri Pacific, and by Supt. of Machinery Purcell of the Santa Fe, Coleman put his invention under test in the Santa Fe shops at Albuquerque about the time the railroad brotherhoods got their $50,000,000 wage increase.

Coleman's saving to the railroads doubles this figure. The Southern Pacific and the Pennsylvania lines are soon to try out the device officially.

When the old-timer with the new idea heard that Shephard, once an "overalls man" himself, was in Pasadena about a year ago, he took his plan before him personally by running past hotel block signals and around secretarial curves of red tape with a speed that made the drivers hot.

"I knew he was where he could give my flue-point a chance," said

Coleman, "and I knew he used to be 'one of the boys' and had sense."

Coleman's device, the secret of which lies in the increased thickness of the flue-point and in the tapering hole, will not only help the fellows of his brotherhood, battling to keep up steam enough to pull a load of "heavies," but by greatly increasing transportation efficiency, will help win the war as well.

LOWELL BOYS ORDAINED PRIESTS AT WASHINGTON

Rev. Brothers Curry and McCartin Become Members of Oblate Order

Parents and Friends From Lowell and North Chelmsford at Services

A most impressive ceremony was carried out at the Catholic University in Washington, D. C., this morning, when Rev. T. Francis Curry, O.M.I., of North Chelmsford, and Rev. James B. McCartin, O.M.I., of Lowell, were ordained to the priesthood by Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Shahan, D.D., rector of the Catholic university. The service was largely attended, including among others the parents and friends of the young priests who had made the journey from Lowell to be present at the ceremony. Bishop Shahan after the ceremony of ordination, spoke briefly to the newly-ordained clergymen on the dignity of the holy priesthood, its mission among men as divinely authorized. He praised the parents of the young priests on their self-sacrifice, and on their unwavering devotion to the highest ideals of true Catholic life; for surely he said they share the joys of these young priests on this most notable occasion in their lives. After the ceremony Rev.

Woman Thought She Would Die. Cured by Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ogdensburg, Wis.—"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Among those in attendance from Lowell were Mr. and Mrs. Michael McCartin and the Misses Anna and Mary McCartin, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Curry, parents of Rev. Fr. Curry, and his three sisters, Miss Mary J. Curry, Miss Anna Curry, Miss Catherine Curry, and Miss Elizabeth Curry. Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill of Manchester, N. H., little Miss Eileen O'Neill and Miss Elizabeth M. Donoghue of the registry of deeds office, the latter a cousin of Rev. Fr. Curry. Before their return to Lowell the Lowell and North Chelmsford people plan to see Washington and its many notable places of deep and absorbing interest, paying a visit to Mount Vernon, Trinity college, Alexandria and other equally important points.

Both Rev. Fr. McCartin and Rev. Fr. Curry are natives of Lowell, and consequently their Lowell friends naturally will be interested to learn of their success in their chosen calling. Both attended Lowell schools, later attending the Oblate Juniorate at Holy Angels college, Buffalo, N. Y., Ottawa university, Ottawa, the scholastic of the Oblate order in Tewksbury, and since the opening of the new house of studies of the Oblates in Washington both have been pursuing a course in theology preparatory to their ordination. They are splendid young men, and that they will be devoted and faithful in the discharge of their sacerdotal duties is the prayer of a host of friends. Rev. Fr. Curry is a graduate of St. Patrick's Boys' academy of this city which has sent so many young men into the priesthood and many of his classmates have sent messages of congratulation to him on the attainment of his life's ambition. Rev. Fr. McCartin's parents reside in the new residence on Rogers street. Rev. Fr. Curry while born in Lowell in the Sacred Heart parish later moved to North Chelmsford and with the members of his family has always been foremost in everything proposed for the benefit of St. John's church.

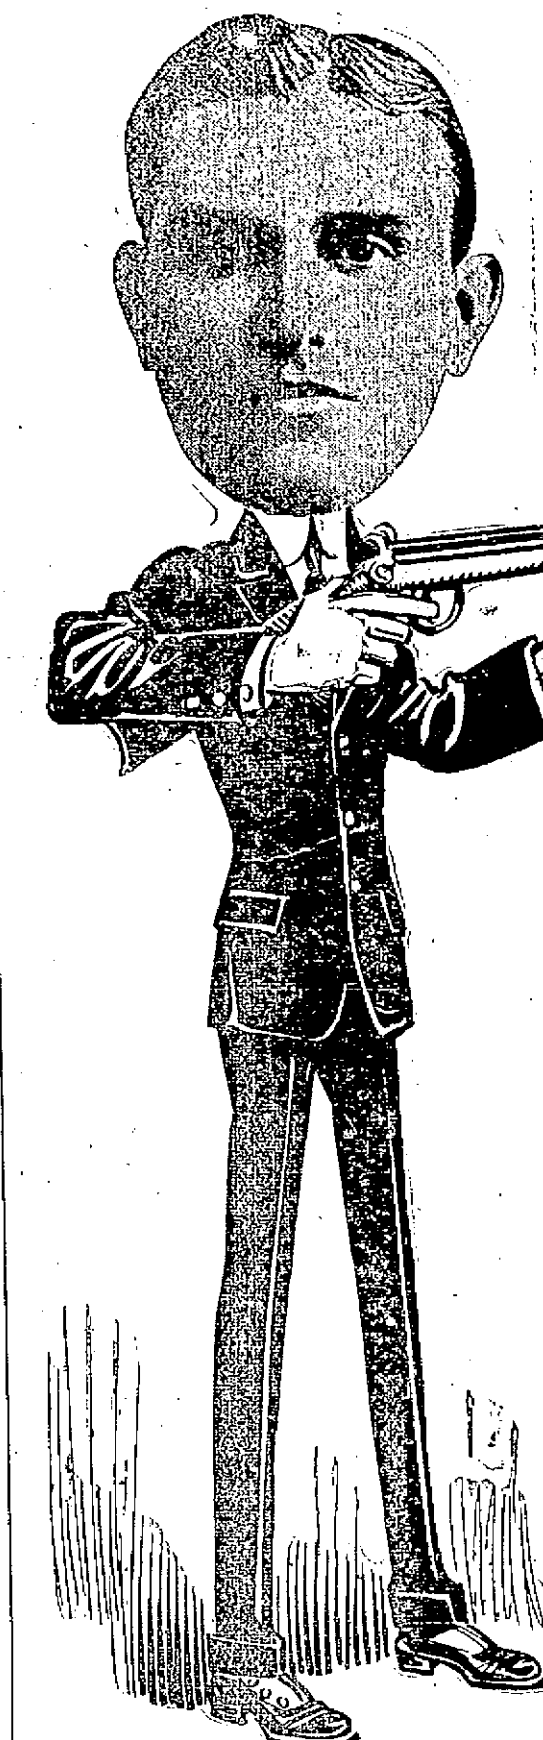

BOOZE SALES WORRY THE DRUGGISTS

Special to The Sun
STATE HOUSE, Boston, June 22.—Druggists throughout the state who hold sixth class licenses permitting them to sell intoxicating liquors on physicians' prescriptions are beginning to wonder whether their licenses have any real value. The question has become so important that the state board of pharmacy is likely soon to ask Attorney General Henry C. Attwell for a ruling as to whether such licenses may legally be granted, and whether, if already granted, they have any value.

The question arises because of the fact that the Massachusetts sixth-class license law is based upon the Pharmacopoeia of the United States, and that publication, in its 1917 edition, omits all reference to whiskey and brandy. Several years ago, drug stores were permitted to sell beer, on prescription, but when that thirst-quencher was omitted from the Pharmacopoeia the sale of beer in drug stores immediately became illegal. Therefore, it is argued, the omission of whiskey and brandy from the 1917 edition make their sale equally illegal. The law provides that "spirituous or intoxicating liquor shall not be sold, exchanged, delivered, or exposed, offered, or kept for sale, exchange or delivery, upon the licensed premises, unless it is of good standard quality and is free from any adulteration prohibited in the Pharmacopoeia of the United States." Another clause expressly requires that all liquors sold under sixth class licenses shall be of a quality demanded by the laws relative to the adulteration of foods and drugs, which in turn are made contingent on the Pharmacopoeia.

Druggists realized the danger mere statute law offered, and though the law was not amended, they refused to pass upon the merits of the question there was much discussion

About every man has occasion to wear a Black Suit now and then.

About every man would have one, but Blacks are dear and he hesitates to put the money out until he is compelled. A low price black suit frightens the average man because he figures the quality is generally missing.

This Week

I am specializing on a black suit that is usually high priced, on a black suit that positively has quality. Wanskuk Black Unfinished Worsted sells every place today from $22.50 to $30.00, according to the clientele of the house that sells it. I don't have to praise Wanskuk goods, our government does this when they select this mill to make their high grade serges for officers' uniforms, and the high priced clothing weaves gave the Wanskuk mill a reputation before it became the leading black and blue maker of this country.

To favor trade this week I offer to make to your measure a suit from Wanskuk Black Unfinished Worsted or from Wanskuk Plain Blue or Black Sergo. Your common sense tells you I am not looking for profit at this figure I quote. It is nearing dull season and more to keep things moving than even to turn over the stock, I give this bargain. Buy one on my recommendation. You will never regret it.

MEAT UNNECESSARY

Says J. H. WATSON, M. D.

Meat is the most expensive article of diet, and the least necessary. Add milk, cheese, fruit, fresh fish, to vegetable articles and you have a good diet. The rheumatic should abstain from meats, or eat very sparingly. It is a well-known fact that in gout, serious organic disease of the kidneys occurs. Such scientists as Fletcher, Minnowski, Hans, Vogt and Roach have shown that uric acid in excess is retained in the blood when the kidneys do not help excrete this poison. Uric acid retained within the body is believed to be the preceding stage or cause of Bright's disease. The excessive use of nitrogenous food or meats often increases uric acid.

High living, intestinal indigestion, overindulgence in the use of alcohol, frequent chilling of the body—all result in retaining within the body an excess of uric acid.

The best way to overcome this condition and prevent rheumatism and gout is to drink plenty of water, say, a pint of hot water morning and night with lemon juice squeezed into it, and take Anuric (double strength) three times a day. This can be obtained at any drug store. This is my invariable prescription for the rheumatic person, and it usually follows that the rheumatic pains, the backache, such as lumbago, pains in the back of the neck or limbs, will disappear. This Anuric by its tonic effect upon the kidneys encourages them to greater activity, and thereby the uric acid is thrown out of the system. It is also well to prevent constipation and that greater excretion every morning, plenty of water between meals, and at least once a week take a vegetable laxative. Such a one is made of May-apple, extract of vegetable calomel and root of Jalap, easily obtained at any drug store because sold for fifty years under the name of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

AMERICANS TAKE OVER INFANTILE PARALYSIS
BIG FIELD HOSPITALS CLINIC IN JUNE

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, June 22.—By The Associated Press—Quite quietly and with very little ceremony so as to escape virtually all but official attention, American doctors, nurses and enlisted men have within the last fortnight taken over six of the British great general field hospitals, releasing the English staffs for duty near their front.

The Americans have been much impressed by the cordiality of the welcome as well as the thoroughness and effectiveness of the British hospital system. So smoothly have the transfers been made that the American doctors and nurses have without even a moment's upset in the routine of the various hospitals. The British selected their hospital sites with the greatest care and have developed them with a completeness that has come from nearly three years' field experience.

Originally planned for 1000 beds each, all the general hospitals have been enlarged to 1400 beds and during a crisis can accommodate 2000 patients. The units which have taken over the various hospitals were organized by the American Red Cross as "United States base hospitals" and have been taken over by the American staffs who were turned over to the regular army for service as required.

Each unit has brought along an organizing director who was a surgeon in civil practice but now takes command as a major in the United States reserve. The commanding officer in each unit is a regular American army surgeon while the subordinate members of the staffs are made up of regular army surgeons and doctors who have been released from civil life. The nurses are all graduates of the American nursing schools by voluntary aid detachments of young women workers such as are now attached to the American Red Cross.

The first of the American units to reach France was known as United States base hospital No. 1, and was organized in Cleveland by Dr. George W. Cline with Maj. Gilchrist of the United States army as commanding officer. This unit has taken over British general hospital No. 3, "somewhere in France." United States base hospital No. 2, Dr. Harvey Cushing with Maj. R. U. Patterson as commanding officer, has taken over British general hospital No. 4.

The American hospitals present an interesting international study with patients from England, Scotland, Ireland, New Zealand and Portugal. American doctors and nurses have already acquired the local language and they enjoy every moment with the convalescent wounded.

WAS WASHED OVERBOARD
BY WAVES

Mrs. Joseph Hebert, of 72 East Linden street, Pawtucketville, who received a telegram yesterday from the navy department to the effect that her husband had been drowned at sea, received further information today concerning his death.

The telegram stated nothing beyond the fact that her husband had been drowned at sea on June 15.

Today she received word that Mr. Hebert, in company with three other men, was on the tugboat "The Fish Hawk" and that they drowned before the rescue crew could reach them.

HOLD MAN WHO TRIED TO ENLIST IN CANADA

HAMILTON, Ont., June 22.—The Hamilton police today are holding for the United States authorities Percy de Willoughby, who was arrested here last night as he was about to enlist as a private in the Canadian army. It was said he was wanted on a charge of passing work.

The past few months de Willoughby is said to have posed in the United States as a British army captain and enlisted in the Canadian army.

He is said to have been recruited for the benefit of the Red Cross in a number of cities including Boston. While in New York it is said he sought and was introduced to members of the British and French war commissions.

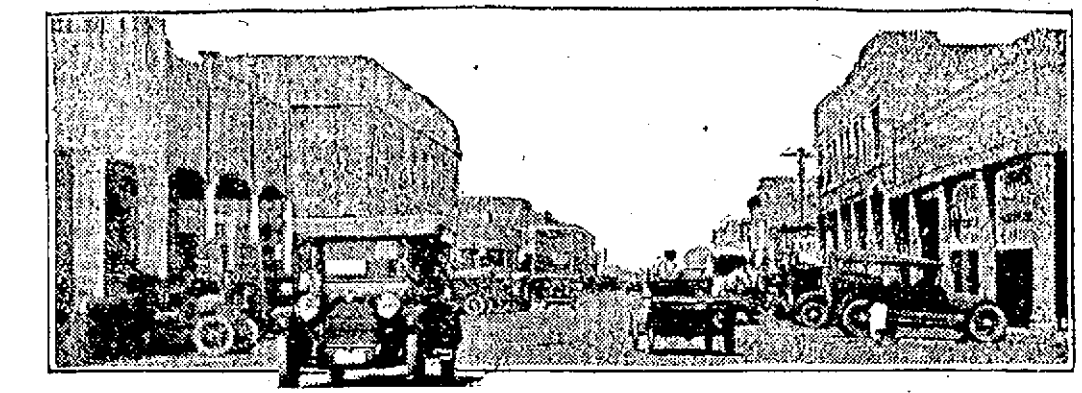

According to the police de Willoughby enlisted in England where he was an accountant and went to France with his corps. In France he is said to have deserted and returned to England where he again enlisted. He is alleged to have then passed worthless checks, which led to his arrest. He escaped from jail in England and came to America where he presented himself as Capt. Percy de Willoughby, D.S.O. of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders and stated that he had been wounded several times. He is about 25 years old.

N. E. GOVERNORS WANT REPRESENTATION ON INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

CONCORD, N. H., June 22.—The governors of six New England states have joined in asking President Wilson to give this section representation on the interstate commerce commission. Their message says that the relatively isolated position of New England demands that its fuel and transportation needs be given consideration by a man familiar with them. The message is signed by Henry W. Keyes, New Hampshire; Carl E. Miliken, Maine; Francis J. Graham, Vermont; Samuel W. McCall, Massachusetts; R. Livingston Beckman, Rhode Island; and Marcus H. Holcomb, Connecticut.

STREET SCENE IN CALEXICO, CAL., ONE OF THE THRIVING TOWNS IN THE IMPERIAL VALLEY

CALEXICO, Cal., June.—The Imperial valley, watered by the most extensive irrigation system in the western hemisphere, will contribute, according to latest statistics, over $30,000,000 worth of food products to the nation this season. The chief staples will be cotton, grains, livestock and garden truck.

A little over a decade ago this region was a desert. Men or beasts ventured upon it at the peril of life. Today it is one of the world's garden spots, and all because a handful of hardy engineers harnessed the great Colorado river and diverted a portion of its flow into the Imperial valley irrigation district.

There are 576,000 acres of irrigable land in the Imperial irrigation district, 58 per cent. of which is already being watered. This valley is the largest area in the United States under one irrigation system. There are only two larger in the world, one in Egypt and the other in India, both under the control of the British government.

No more spectacular change has ever been witnessed than has occurred in the Imperial valley in the last 17 years. In 1900 the land was worthless. Today it is assessed at more than $28,000,000.

The most astonishing product that has come out of Imperial is cotton, the best quality grown. With hostilities upon us, this is an important contribution to our war chest.

The Imperial irrigation district was organized in 1911 by the late Eng. C. K. Clark, superintendent. "The present distributing system was acquired in 1916 at a cost of less than $3,000,000. The district operates on a mutual basis. Recently a bond issue of $5,000,000 for extensions and improvements was voted, in addition to $1,500,000 now being expended. The water obtained from the Colorado through a great canal tapping the river at Hanlon heading below Yuma, the main canal flows 55 miles through Mexico before crossing the border into Imperial county."

El Centro and Calexico are the principal towns in the Imperial valley. Both are thriving and growing rapidly. Calexico, opposite Mexicali, with a population of 5000 surpasses in importance the city of Los Angeles, with its 600,000 inhabitants.

With thousands being spent by the growing cities and the Imperial valley in water canals and laterals, the Imperial valley is just getting a good start.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERS AND MILITARY TRAINING
MANUFACTURERS AND FARM WORK

Chemical engineers and manufacturers from over the United States will gather in Boston on September 10, 11, 12 to participate in the fifty-fifth annual convention of the American chemical society. It is estimated that over a thousand will be present for the event, in spite of the fact that many of the delegates have been called upon to serve in the military.

The convention will be held at the Hotel Marlborough-Blenheim, which is the headquarters of the American chemical society. The program for the convention is a most interesting one, and will include a number of papers and lectures on the latest developments in the chemical industry.

The rise of the chemical industry to its present important place in our manufacturing life has been largely due to the use of a million pounds of explosives in one operation such as that recently pulled off by Sir Douglas Haig in Belgium. The public is beginning to realize the importance of the chemical industry to its present standing.

The convention will be under the immediate direction of the northeastern section of the American Chemical society, of which section Dr. Henry P. Tabor, head of the department of chemistry at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is the chairman.

ALLOWANCE TO COPS FOR SHOES

LONDON, June.—The 20,000 policemen in the metropolitan area of London have just been given an additional allowance of twelve cents a week to keep their shoes in repair. This makes the total allowance 24 cents a week. The men buy their own shoes.

The London police are the only police force in the world which has this allowance. It is a result of a long struggle between the police and the shoemakers' union.

400 MINES EXPLODED OR FISHED UP ON THE COAST OF GOTHLAND

STOCKHOLM, June.—Four hundred mines have exploded or been fished up on the coast of Gothland since the war began. Seventy-five of them came ashore on a fifteen-mile stretch of coast. Nobody has been hurt by the explosions, with the exception that some light waves after the first explosion.

The mines were laid by the German navy in the Baltic sea. They were intended to destroy the Swedish coast.

Careless Use of Soap Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mild soap, which is both pure and gentle, and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

SAVE SUGAR IN JELLY MAKING WASHINGTON, D. C.—Much waste of sugar and spoilage of jellies can be avoided by using a single alcohol test recommended by the department of chemistry, United States bureau of agriculture. To determine how much sugar should be used with each kind of fruit, put a spoonful of fruit in a glass and add to it one spoonful of 95 per cent. grain of alcohol, mixed by shaking the glass gently. The fruit will sink, and the sugar will rise to the surface in the form of a white foam. If the foam is thick, the fruit is rich in sugar and a large amount of sugar should be used for each cup of juice; if in several jumps the proportion of sugar must be reduced to approximately three-fourths the amount of the juice. If the foam is not in lumps but is merely precipitated, the sugar should be one-half or less of the amount of the juice. If the juice shows no precipitation under the test, it is unsuitable for jelly making and must be combined with apples or other juices rich in pectin. The housewife will do well before making the test to taste the fruit as fruits not as acid as good tart apples probably will not make good jelly unless mixed with other fruits which are acid. FRENCH VICTORY IN CHAMPAGNE

LONDON, June 22.—Spirited attacks by the French drove the Germans northward of Mont Carnillet yesterday morning and further west recovered most of the ground lost recently east of Vauzallon in the Aisne region. The victory in Champagne followed a German attempt to recover trenches between Mont Carnillet and Mont Blond. French grenadiers not only repelled the Germans, but followed them and took their train for a depth of 300 feet.

BOYS OF ST. PATRICK'S GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

The annual entertainment in connection with the commencement exercises of St. Patrick's Boys' school was given at the Opera House last evening with a matinee for the children in the afternoon. The affair took on a delectable nature of graduation exercises, but the actual awarding of diplomas will not take place until next Sunday, when they will be presented at the high mass at St. Patrick's church by Monsignor William O'Brien.

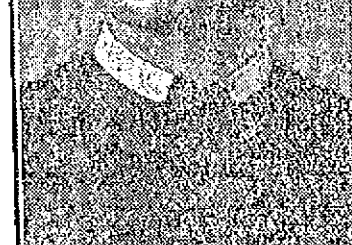

Last evening's affair was even above the standard of past years, and the large crowd of friends and relatives of the young men were not dilatory in showing their appreciation. The earlier numbers of the program were, in almost every instance, of a patriotic tone, and for this reason were especially acceptable at the present time. The pupils of the lower grades offered recitations, patriotic songs, and a number of patriotic plays. The Indian club drill by the pupils of the fifth grade was skillfully carried out, and was decidedly pleasant to look at. "The Story of the American Flag" and "The Spirit of 1776 and 1917" were also cleverly presented.

The sanctuary choir, an organization of the boys, made one of the most distinct impressions of the evening. The boys did not confine themselves to any easy pieces, but launched forth confidently into the most difficult numbers; nevertheless they were wholly successful, in every offering they undertook. Mr. Charles Norman Sladen of Boston was the musical director, and Rev. Bro. Niles the accompanist, and to both of these gentlemen as well as to the boys themselves the greatest commendation is due.

The numbers commented on up to now were merely preliminary to the real feature of the evening, a three-act comedy entitled "His Father's Son." The play had to do with newspaper life, and the young actors were startlingly realistic in their portrayal of the characters of the piece. A number of scenes, made unusually difficult to render because of the pathos, were capably handled by the amateurs, and in the humorous parts the performers were especially brilliant. The play was given by members of the commercial class under the direction of Mr. John Quinn, dramatic instructor. It was written by Gladys Ruth Brigham.

Following is the cast of characters: "Nathan Doyle," a reporter, Daniel Brady; "Douglas Doyle," his son, Joseph P. Ryan; "Hiram McBlaney," friend of Nathan, Walter Smith; "Jerry McBlaney," his son, Daniel Whalen; "Lancelotti, Grillo," reporter, Peter E. Kane; "Jim O'Callahan," city editor, Charles B. Kilroy; "Timothy

REV. BROTHER OSMUND, Superior of St. Patrick's Academy

Glenn," office boy, John Laverty; "Philip Crane," headmaster of Appleton, John Connel; "Harrison Pike," his assistant, William Sullivan; "John Hartwell," John D. Collier; "Harry Atkins," Henry Corcoran; "Horace Russell," Timothy Sheehan; "Raymond Sears," Robert Shinkwin; "Ordway Mitchell," John O'Brien.

The program of the preliminary entertainment was as follows: "The Spirit of 1917," "The Soldier's Time for Every Boy to Be a Soldier," Orchestra.

Overture, Selection from Blue Paradise, a-The Nightingale and the Rose, b-The Soldier's Chorus, c-Gounod, The Little Cooks, d-Fifth Grade, e-Sixth Grade, f-Seventh Grade, g-Eighth Grade, h-National Melodies, i-Orchestra, j-Orchestra, k-Orchestra, l-Orchestra, m-Orchestra, n-Orchestra, o-Orchestra, p-Orchestra, q-Orchestra, r-Orchestra, s-Orchestra, t-Orchestra, u-Orchestra, v-Orchestra, w-Orchestra, x-Orchestra, y-Orchestra, z-Orchestra.

During the entertainment last evening, Rev. Bro. Osmund, C.F.X., the principal of the school, is once more to be congratulated on the calibre of the young men whom he is yearly sending out from his institution, and also on the devoted brothers who work unceasingly and untiringly for the young men. Among the number of visitors who were present at last evening's performance were Rev. William O'Brien, P.R., of St. Patrick's parish, and Rev. Brothers Cletus, Rogatus, Lorenzo, Harold, and Josita of Lawrence, Omer of Somerville and Benjamin, Lucian, Linus and Augustine of St. John's preparatory school.

WOMAN KILLS BUCK DEER WITH A CLUB—FOUND IT GORING COW

ORANGE, June 22.—Mrs. Louis Kuritz of Irving probably saved her life yesterday afternoon by effectively wielding a heavy chestnut club so that it struck between the eyes of a charging infuriated buck deer and instantly killed it. Hearing an unusual bellowing from her cow in the pasture nearby, Mrs. Kuritz discovered the animal down and two buck deer goring her. She snatched a club and went out to save the cow. One of the deer ran off but the other left his attack on the cow and charged her. She struck the animal squarely between the eyes and he fell dead. The buck weighed 100 pounds. The cow was not seriously injured.

FRANK A. SMALL, PROMINENT SHIP BUILDER AND FORMER MAYOR OF BATH, ME., DEAD

SOMERVILLE, June 22.—Frank A. Small, a prominent ship builder and former mayor of Bath, Me., died of apoplexy late yesterday while visiting at the home of a relative here. He was 63 years old. For many years Mr. Small was junior member of the firm of Percy & Small, builders of many of the largest wooden schooners engaged in the Atlantic coastwise trade. In 1911 he was elected mayor of Bath and was re-elected in 1912.

Blazing Tar Auto Truck Goes ON RAMPAGE AT BEACONHILL FAMILIES SMOKED OUT. REVERE, June 22.—Residents of Beaconhill, this city, had an experience with a "terrible tank" yesterday afternoon. It was an auto sprinkling truck containing a tank of blazing tar and it went on a rampage on Endicott avenue, filling the district with dense acid smoke which nearly caused a panic along Short beach. The truck took fire while being used in retarding the avenue. It shot along like a flaming chariot, scattering the burning tar and oil in all directions and leaving a thick cloud of black smoke in its wake. Several families on the landward side of the street were smoked out. The house of Mrs. Margaret Smith at 38 and that of Isadora Lesear, at 90 Endicott avenue, in front of which the truck finally stopped after the rear tires had

MAN KILLS HIMSELF IN BOSTON COURTHOUSE

BOSTON, June 22.—Henry F. Barker, a stenographer, shot himself in the lavatory near the Social Law library in the Suffolk county court house at 12.30 yesterday and died in the afternoon at the Haymarket-square relief station. The cause of the suicide is not known, although Barker, who lived at 74 Greenleaf street, Quincy, with his mother and sister, was known to have strong pro-German sentiments and was within the draft age. Although the lavatory has been carefully guarded since the explosion at the courthouse several months ago, no particular attention was paid to Barker when he entered, nor did the sound of the shot cause any great excitement, persons hearing it being of the belief that the report was that of an automobile tire exploding. The man's body, lying in a pool of blood, was discovered by Arthur Parker, a newspaperman, who immediately notified Patrolman George H. McCaffrey of the board of health. After the dying man had been removed to the hospital, a courthouse attache said that Barker had borrowed a small sum of money from him about 10 minutes prior to the shooting. Besides his mother and sister, Barker is survived by a wife and two young sons in Washington.

AMERICANS ABROAD AID THE RED CROSS

WASHINGTON, June 22.—America's campaign to raise $100,000,000 this week for the Red Cross, today assumed international proportions when word reached headquarters that committees of Americans in London, Paris, Panama, Ecuador, Peru and other South American countries are actively collecting funds. Promises of contributions aggregating several hundred thousand dollars came also from Manila, Alaska and Guam.

Compilations at headquarters early today showed $63,000,000 had been obtained and today's work was expected to raise the total to near $75,000,000. Already the Red Cross machinery is at work on plans for spending the sum most wisely. Henry P. Davidson, chairman of the Red Cross war council, has almost daily conferences with representatives of Russia, France and Rumania to discuss what relief work shall be undertaken in those countries.

It was said today that the prospective field of work for the American Red Cross is developing so fast that $100,000,000 might not be sufficient for long, and possibly either another popular canvass for funds would be conducted or congress would be asked for an appropriation.

Braves Aid Red Cross
BOSTON, June 22.—With several of her smaller sister cities in New England having already over subscribed their allotments in the campaign to raise $7,000,000 in New England this week for the Red Cross war relief fund, officials here today pronounced the results of the canvass in greater Boston "most disappointing." Boston has raised only $1,265,989 and renewed efforts are under way to push the hands of the great campaign clocks around to the $3,000,000 mark.

Plans for bringing into the Red Cross campaign the organization which did such great work in the Liberty Loan campaign today were discussed at a meeting of Liberty Loan association workers at the Exchange club. Presidents of all the banks and trust companies in the city and representatives of many industrial concerns were present. The list of speakers included Alfred L. Aiken, governor of the Boston federal reserve bank and N. Penrose Hallowell, vice chairman of the Liberty Loan committee.

Members of the Boston National League baseball team wearing their uniforms contributed a feature to the open air campaign on Boston common today. President Percy Haughton and Manager George T. Stallings were listed as the leading speakers.

In order to stimulate the interest of corporations throughout New England in the campaign, the Greater Boston committee have issued a letter emphasizing the necessity for raising New England's quota and suggesting the thoughtfulness of declaring special dividends with a request to stockholders that they contribute some portion of such dividends to the Red Cross.

PAWNEES DANCE
The third annual social and dancing party of the Pawnees was held last night at the Pawtucket boathouse in Pawtucket street. There was a large attendance and the affair proved to be a success in every particular. Music for dancing was furnished by Markham's Band orchestra. During the evening Miss Anna Cavanaugh, one of Lowell's youngest fancy dancers, danced the Highland fling and Pierrot dance. The success of the party was due to the zealous and untiring work of the following officials: General manager, Barrie Ganley; assistant general manager, Rose Charren; floor director, Catherine Hannigan; assistant floor director, Arthur Carroll; treasurer, Thos. Gladly; secretary, Eugene Mahan; chief aid, Anna Cavanaugh.

LAKEVIEW AVENUE HIGHWAY
A petition signed by many prominent residents of Dracut has been presented to the public service commission by Senator Arthur W. Colburn, asking the latter for redress in the matter of the Lakeview avenue highway, and the matter has been taken under advisement by the commission. The petition asks that the status of the Lakeview avenue highway be determined as the containing parties are the state highway commission, the Middlesex county commission, the town of Dracut and the Bay State Street Railway Co. This move is in order to avoid any and all technicalities after the work has been started.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN POLICE COURT

William Kelly appeared before Judge Knight in police court this morning on a rather novel complaint, that of painting on the Lord's day, it not being a work of necessity or charity. A plea of guilty was entered and the court ordered Kelly to pay a fine of $10.

Patrolman Simon Lane testified that on Sunday, May 20, while he was passing through Prescott street trying doors, he found the door of one of the stores unlocked and entering saw Kelly and two other men painting the interior. Upon questioning them he found that they had no permit to do work on Sunday and as a result of the report he made at the police station Kelly was summoned to appear in court this morning.

Annie Terzanko was charged with the larceny of a quart of milk belonging to Michael McCarthy, but owing to the non-appearance of the owner of the milk the case was continued until tomorrow morning, the woman being allowed to go on her own recognizance.

Herbert Barry who was charged with drunkenness had been begging on the street and although warned by the officer persisted in doing so. Barry said he was on his way to Ayer and if given a chance would leave the city on the next car. He was given the chance.

Ernest Brothers was charged with drunkenness and the larceny of a watch and chain valued at $12. The property was found in his possession and he pleaded guilty to being drunk, but denied that he had committed larceny. Inasmuch as the government was not ready for trial the case was postponed until tomorrow morning.

William A. O'Connell, charged with drunkenness, was sentenced to one month in jail. John Carney was sentenced to two months in the same institution and Allen Fletcher was ordered to pay a fine of $5.

Nicholas Connolly of Billerica was charged with neglecting to provide for his wife, but the woman during the course of her testimony said she would do without the money if her husband would keep away from the house. He was given a suspended sentence of five months in the house of correction.

Michael Clobery was also charged with neglecting his wife, the latter stating that her husband had not given her any money for eight weeks. Inasmuch as it was thought that an amicable settlement could be reached the matter was continued for a month.

Tomorrow's Session
Tomorrow's session of the police court will open at 9:30 instead of 10 o'clock, the change being made in order to give Judge Knight an opportunity to be a member of the party which is going to make an inspection of the state hospital at Norfolk.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED IN THE FISH TRADE

BOSTON, June 22.—Thirty-one of the leading wholesale fish dealers of Boston, doing business as the New England Fish Exchange, have been charged by the government with forming an unlawful combination and conspiring to monopolize the fresh fish industry of New England.

A voluminous bill in equity setting forth the charge in detail was filed in the United States district court yesterday by United States District Attorney George W. Anderson as the first step in the prosecution of the fish magnates for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

In view of the high price of fish and the threatened advent of meatless days, the prosecution is expected to have a salutary effect so far as the consuming public is concerned.

One of the principal abuses which the government complains of is an assessment upon every pound of fish bought and sold upon the exchange during the past eight years which has been added to the price of fish charged to the consumer and which has netted the members of the exchange an income of $4,000,000, which was split up between them.

The defendants are the Bay State Fishing company and eight of its subsidiaries, the Boston Fish Pier company and 23 of its subsidiaries, the Boston Fish Market Corporation, which controls the fishery in South Boston under a 15-year lease from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; the Commonwealth Ice & Cold Storage company, which owns and operates the cold storage plant at the fish pier, and five other firms, all wholesale dealers and all members of the New England Fish Exchange.

The Bay State Fishing company is an $8,000,000 corporation and is the largest fish catcher in this part of the country. It owns all but one of the steam trawlers engaged in the New England fishing industry and easily dominates the situation through its subsidiary concerns.

According to the bill of complaint, this concern attempted last year to consolidate all the business of the exchange in a single corporation.

The plan was to effect the formation of another combination headed by the Boston Fish Pier company. Recently, the bill alleges, the differences between the two opposing camps of fish dealers were amicably arranged and an agreement entered into involving certain fixing of maximum prices for buying and minimum prices for selling fish, division of territory and the usual results of an illegal combination such as the defendants are alleged to have formed.

CHARGES AGAINST PRINT PAPER MANUFACTURERS

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Formal charges against print paper manufacturers, frankly designed to force the federal trade commission to some action against them were filed with the commission today by Frank P. Walsh, who was formerly chairman of the federal industrial relations commission. Acting as an individual in this instance, Mr. Walsh charges that newspaper manufacturers for many months have been using unfair methods of competition in production and sale of print paper. He asks the commission to conduct a public hearing.

Individuals and corporations named in Mr. Walsh's complaint include E. W. Backus, George H. Mead, P. T.

Dodge, Alexander Smith, George Chaspen, Jr., the Minnesota and Ontario Paper Co., the Spanish River Pulp & Paper Mills, Ltd., the International Paper Co., the Abitibi Paper & Power Co. Ltd., the Laurentide Co. Ltd., and others so designated.

The basis of the complaint is the commission's recent report, issued at the conclusion of its investigation into the production and cost of print paper. The manufacturers are charged with having conspired and banded together to control the industry, increase the cost of paper, restricting free competition and limiting the production, and having divided the country into territories apportioned among themselves for the sale of their product.

In addition Mr. Walsh charges that the manufacturers have discriminated in prices among publishers, favoring some and ruling others, and have violated contracts made with the commission to be fair, legal and profitable.

Many false claims and allegations, Mr. Walsh charges, have been made by the manufacturers as a part of their alleged program of obtaining and retaining control of the field.

The commission has ample power under the law to stop this, says a statement by Mr. Walsh in connection with the filing of the complaint. "They may enter an order commanding these known offenders to desist. There is no excuse for usual law's delay. The conspirators refusing, they may have peremptory orders from any or all circuit courts of appeal in the United States where the offenses are being committed, compelling compliance with the demand of the commission. Such orders under the federal statutes are summary in character and take precedence over all other cases."

The present war emergency makes it imperative that such orders be made immediately.

COMPROMISE ON SIX CENT FARE INCREASE

BOSTON, June 22.—A compromise agreement was arrived at yesterday between officials of the Bay State Street Railway company and the representatives of many cities served by the company's lines under which, it is expected, the request of the company to inaugurate a six-cent fare will be granted.

The public service commission, it is understood, stands ready to put into effect whatever schedule the contending forces may agree upon, and inasmuch as the plan decided upon in yesterday's meeting was unanimously approved the officials do not feel that there is much doubt of favorable action on the part of the commission.

The plan approved in the conference was as follows: A six-cent fare generally, with the provision that 10 and 20-trip tickets may be purchased at the rate of five cents a trip, which will be good at all times except Sundays, holidays and Saturday afternoons; the continuation of free transfers where the transfer holder is within the same city where the passenger enters the car or when the centers of the cities or towns are so close as to make them practically one community, a charge of one cent to be made for all transfers under other conditions, and an arrangement of fares on certain lines which do not now pay so as to make them as attractive as possible to the traveler. There was no provision in the decision of the conference relative to tickets for school children or for workmen aside from the 10 and 20-trip tickets at five cents a trip.

FIGHT ON FOOD BILLS GOES ON

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Administration supporters of the food bills rearranged their battle lines today to make sure that the senate does not kill the second bill on the ground that the first bill is enough.

Fearing that should the first, or production bill, with its clause against food hoarding, be finally enacted while the senate debates the second, or control bill, it might be contended that the provisions of the first bill are sufficient, the house leaders today decided today to let the first bill remain in its present stage, and thus force the senate to enact all the program before any of it gets to the critical stage of conference between the two houses.

Should house leaders be able to delay the appointment of conferees on the first bill until after passage of the second by both houses, they expected to get most of the administration's program on the statute books.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Prohibition proposals and pending amendments to eliminate government licensing of food dealers were the principal subjects of contention in the house today on the administration's food control bill, whose final passage is expected tomorrow.

In the house speeches were limited to five minutes. Senator Reed of Missouri was ready to take the floor in the senate for a long speech in opposition to the bill.

Indications multiplied today that the legislation would be enacted by July 1, as urged by President Wilson.

FAILS IN ATTEMPT TO FORM CABINET

AMSTERDAM, June 22.—Count Henry Clam-Gartling, premier of the Austrian cabinet, which recently resigned, has failed in his attempt to reconstruct the ministry, according to a despatch from Vienna. The count has asked Emperor Charles to invite someone else to form a cabinet.

SCHOOL TEACHER KILLS WIFE OF MAN SHE LOVED AND THEN SHOT HERSELF

WAUKESHA, Wis., June 22.—Miss Grace Lusk, high school teacher, who yesterday shot and killed Mrs. Roberts, wife of Dr. David Roberts, former state veterinarian, and then tried to kill herself by sending two bullets into her body, probably will recover, physicians said today. Dr. Roberts, who arrived at the house after the shooting, asked Miss Lusk why she had killed his wife.

"I didn't intend to, but just lost my head when she said I couldn't have you," she replied. To Dr. R. E. Davies and Chief of Police McKay, who had been summoned after the shooting, Miss Lusk said:

"I am sorry for Mrs. Roberts. I hope my wounds are fatal. I never thought I could do it. I loved Dr. Roberts and want him now and always."

Several weeks ago Mrs. Roberts is said to have appeared before the board of education and to have asked for Miss Lusk's dismissal, alleging that she was not a proper person to be associated with the schools.

NEW YORK CAMPAIGN
NEW YORK, June 22.—More than half-way to their goal of $40,000,000, campaigners for the Red Cross war fund today made an appeal for contributions in an effort to better yesterday's record of $6,689,965. New York's total to date is $28,631,965.

TO REFUSE RETURNS OF STALE BREAD

WASHINGTON, June 22.—More than 22,000 bakers throughout the country have agreed with the commercial economy board to begin on July 10 to refuse returns of stale bread from dealers. By thus compelling housewives to order for their needs and dealers to continue supplies to actual demand, enough waste will be eliminated to feed 200,000 persons besides releasing many employees for other necessary work.

Card From The Talbot Clothing Co. This is a card of thanks to all our good friends of Lowell and vicinity—It seems a long time since in 1881 we bought out the old stand of Messrs. Wheeler & Son and met the Lowell people for the first time. The writer lived for many years in Lowell and made the best friends of his life in your city, and today his son has taken permanent residence with you and will have the same fine treatment. The store has always been successful, it was enlarged several times, taking in Jones' Plumbing establishment and Ferrin's shoe store, and in the winter of 1901-1902 the second story of the American House was added. Of course as years went by, new ideas appeared in all lines of business—and two years ago I went through the large cities in the east and then went west to see the newest ideas in clothing stores. I believe I have gotten together the best from all the stores, and that Lowell will have the best up-to-date store in New England. The front is a western idea and the new fixtures that will follow are the latest that are known today. Taken as a whole we believe it will be a perfect clothing store. The same policy that has made the store successful for so many years will be continued—The lowest prices for good merchandise, entire satisfaction to all purchasers, and polite service by our employees—success will continue under these rules we are confident. Just now we must make way for the army of mechanics who go to work July 5, and must reduce our store stock at least one-half. With everything going up in price the Lowell public will appreciate the bargain prices, and they are named on all clothing excepting Blue Serges and Flannels and Black Suits. Furnishing Goods and Hats are included. This sale is extraordinary as it's practically the whole stock, not a few items selected. We expect to cut our $70,000 stock in half by July 5. The store will be closed all day Wednesday and Thursday, and open Friday at 9 a. m. Thanking you again and hoping our efforts to give you the best will meet your approval,

We are, yours very truly,

TOTAL REGISTRATION FOR DRAFT 9,649,938

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Following receipt of war registration returns from Wyoming and Kentucky, making the nation's final total enrollment 9,649,938. Provost Marshal General Crowder announced today that draft regulations will be ready for publication July 1, two months before the first call to the colors. Details of the machinery governing exemption boards were not disclosed.

In addition to the regularly tabulated totals, 6000 Indians of eligible age were enrolled.

Making allowances for the 500,000 or 600,000 eligibles as approximately correct more already in military or naval service, not required to register, the provost marshal-general's office figured the census bureau estimate of 19,375.

ANOTHER DROWNING ACCIDENT
William Lawrence Brown, aged six years, son of William and Elizabeth Brown of 21 Exeter street, was drowned in the Merrimack river near Alton street dump yesterday afternoon. The boy, accompanied by Clifford Bailey and George Glue, went swimming in what is known as the "baby hole" in the river and the former waded out beyond his depth. His companions becoming frightened fled without reporting the matter.

Shortly before 5 o'clock, Michael J. Burns of Riverside street was passing the spot where the drowning occurred and saw young Brown's body floating in the water. Undertaker Albert was notified and the body was removed to his room, where it was viewed by Assistant Medical Examiner Ailing. Later the body was taken to the rooms of Undertaker J. W. McKenna, 413 Bridge street and will be removed to the boy's home today. Besides his parents, he leaves two sisters, Matilda and May, and three brothers, William, Harvey and Alfred.

PUBLISHERS HIT HARD
BY WAR TAXES

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The senate finance committee late yesterday took what the members expect to be final action on publishers' taxes in the war revenue bill, adopting by a vote of eight to six an increase of one-quarter of a cent a pound on second-class postage rates and an additional levy of 5 per cent. on publishers' net profits over $1000.

Revenues of $3,000,000 annually from the increase in postage rates to one and one-quarter cents a pound, which most publishers have vigorously opposed, and about $5,000,000 from the profits tax are expected.

The increase in postage rates would apply to publishers of newspapers, magazines and all other periodicals, including religious publications.

The committee also decided today to retain the house increase of 50 per cent. on letter rates, but tentatively agreed to strike out the doubled postcard rate. As about one billion postcards were sent last year, if the postcard increase is eliminated about $20,000,000 in revenues will be lost. The latter increase is expected to raise about $50,000,000.

In revising the excess profits tax today, deferring a decision regarding the rate of taxation, the committee decided to extend its operation to individuals in trade as well as corporations and partnerships. It also decided to give an exemption of 6 per cent. to corporations having sub-normal profits during the three year-prewar period and a similar exemption to new corporations organized since the war began.

Reconsideration Urged

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Representatives of the American Newspaper Publishers' association today urged reconsideration by the senate finance committee of its decision to incorporate in the war revenue bill a section raising second-class mail rates to 1 1/4 cents a pound and the levying of a 5 per cent. tax on publishers' net profits over $1000 a year. The association meeting here yesterday protested against special publishers' taxes, not in other classes of business. A half hour before the protest was presented, however, the committee approved the publishers' tax amendment.

MASS. INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY TO OPEN A CLUBHOUSE AT PARIS

BOSTON, June 22.—To provide a direct medium between students and graduates of Massachusetts Institute of Technology at the front and their families and to establish a home for them in Paris, the institute will open a clubhouse in the French capital. It was announced today. Van Rensselaer Lansing, who has been assisting the council of national defense, will sail next week to assume charge of the club. A system for keeping track of every technology man in the war zone has been devised. The project is being financed by an alumni committee.

START WORK ON TRAINING CAMPS FOR N. E. NATIONAL GUARD'S COAST ARTILLERY UNITS

BOSTON, June 22.—Orders have been received, it became known today, to start work on training camps of wooden construction for the New England National Guard's coast artillery units, to be mobilized in federal coast artillery corps posts next month. There are 8000 men in the artillery companies of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

U. S. MAY INSURE EACH SOLDIER FOR $4000

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 18.—Insurance and protection—or more pensions and politics? This is one of the live war questions now being worked out by experts of the department of commerce, who are laying plans for the insurance of every soldier sent to France.

Insuring every soldier with a $4000 free policy, made out for the benefit of his dependents or next of kin, will be a gigantic job. It will make Uncle Sam one of the biggest insurance agents in the world. He will have to write the policies and assume the risks, as there is no one else in the world who would do it.

But it is not an insurable job. Grants at the cost would be, it would not come anywhere near the amount the American people pay every year for insurance, which is close to a billion dollars.

But if all, it would settle at the cost of the pension nuisance, which has trailed all our former wars with unending scandals, machine politics and graft on pensioners.

Uncle Sam is paying out every year about $150,000,000 in pensions, and the figure has been much higher. For all his wars he has paid $5,034,630,727 in pensions, and $11,375,555 in salaries to the pension department.

These figures make the insurance plan seem very attractive. It will be more just. It will settle the accounts between the government and the soldiers' relatives at once, and the latter will not have to wait for justice.

Banding the pension system, would probably clean up politics and introduce speed and efficiency in congress more than any other measure.

Today much of the time of congress is taken up with pension matters. Nearly every congressman is in effect a pension lawyer, pushing private pension bills for his constituents.

The extent of this nuisance can be partially grasped from the following figures, which refer to the private pension bills introduced by a few members in the first 11 days of the 64th congress.

The total number of private pension bills introduced in that time was 414, with 191 bills to change military records—to facilitate private pension grants to come later. The total of public bills for the same period was only 78.

Every private pension bill is an attempt to get something from the government, which would not be allowed under the general pension laws.

Contrast this sickening welter of spoils and politics with the scientific and profitable operation of the war risk bureau under which the United States has been insuring American merchantmen for nearly three years.

If the government can insure the ships and cargoes of its citizens, it can certainly insure its soldiers.

The private insurance companies are rather fearful of the proposed plan, but have assured the council of national defense that they will not object, if the government will undertake not to continue in the insurance business after the war.

Of course, the government will sustain a direct loss of $4000 whenever a soldier is killed, as it is planned to issue the policies free of all premiums up to that amount. The proposed government insurance bureau would, however, issue policies for amounts in excess of the $4000, on payment of premiums.

These premiums would be high, as the experience of Canadian insurance companies, which had written policies for Canadian soldiers, shows there will be tremendous losses.

MODERN METHODS FOR MOTH CONTROL

WASHINGTON, D. C., June.—The use of high-power spraying outfits for applying solid streams of liquid poisons is becoming more general in New England in the work of combatting the gypsy and brown-tail moths, according to entomologists of the United States department of agriculture. By the use of such apparatus, woodland, park, and street trees 50 feet and even more in height can be covered satisfactorily with poison solutions from the ground. When the usual mist-spraying outfit is used, the operators must climb the trees—a much slower and more expensive proceeding.

The spraying of trees in New England, whether with mist or solid-stream sprays, has been effective in combatting the foliage-eating insect pests of the region. Arsenate of lead in the paste form is the poison generally used. Solutions of from 10 to 12½ pounds of the chemical to each 100 gallons of water are employed.

Solid Stream Spraying

Spraying woodland by using this method requires about 600 gallons of spray solution per acre, and with a high-grade machine, properly equipped, an average of from 12 to 15 acres can be sprayed in a day. With the same outfit it is possible to treat about 400 shade trees per day and, as a rule, 400 residents will cover about 25 trees. The cost of this treatment depends on local prices for supplies and labor.

Early Spraying Best

The spraying of shade trees with arsenate of lead, say the entomologists of the department, should be accomplished at as early a date as possible after the foliage has sufficiently developed. Early spraying is not only beneficial against the gypsy moth, but will poison many brown-tail caterpillars, as they are much earlier feeders than the gypsy moth. In the case of the elm leaf beetle much is accomplished in poisoning the adult beetles, which do a small amount of feeding after coming out of hibernation before mating and laying eggs, as they are very easily poisoned at that time.

Owners and operators of spraying outfits are warned by the department's specialists that failure to take proper care of their machines, is responsible for most of the difficulties and delays that result during the spraying season. This is particularly true in regard to the precautions that should be taken when the spraying season is over and the machine is laid up for the winter.

Other Control Measures

If the infestation of the gypsy moth is severe and the aim is to exterminate the pest rather than merely to hold it in check, egg clusters should be treated with creosote before spraying is begun. If infestation is in pasture land, proper precautions should be exercised so that livestock will not be poisoned. Poison notices should be placed in conspicuous places in all cases where spraying is done.

From 800 to 1000 tons of arsenate of lead and about 600 high-power solid-stream machines are now used each year in the New England states in fighting the gypsy moth. Thousands of acres of orchard and woodland park trees, in addition to approximately 20,000 miles of street trees, are being sprayed. When spraying is properly done to control the gypsy moth, very little trouble is experienced with other leaf-eating insects.

BOSTON, June 22.—A representative gathering from all sections of the state taxed the capacity of the Boston Opera House last evening when John McCormack appeared in a song recital under the auspices of the associate members, 9th Massachusetts Infantry, N. G.

The state and city were represented by Lieut. Gov. Coolidge, and Mayor Curley. His Eminence Cardinal William H. O'Connell addressed the audience on the war situation. Assisting Mr. McCormack were Donald McBeath, violinist, and Edwin Schneider, pianist. As McCormack appeared, Sergis, McRae and Clark of Co. F, and Privates Murray and Flaherty of Co. D, color bearers, placed the national and state flags on the stage while the tenor sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

The address of greeting was given by Col. Logan, who presented the cardinal. Address by Cardinal O'Connell. Cardinal O'Connell spoke of the duty of all as Americans and closed his remarks with an appeal for all to give to the Red Cross this week. He said: "I beg your leave, ladies and gentlemen, to say a word concerning the great movements which are occupying the thoughts and stirring the emotions of all America in these days. I am constantly being invited to address all sorts of assemblies and meetings on these and similar matters and, unfortunately, I can accept only very few such invitations, especially at this season when my regular occupations, always assiduous enough, are more than doubled."

that there may be no misunderstanding now or hereafter.

"That position may be summed up briefly as the only position possible today for every loyal American either now when we stand in the face of grave difficulties or later when perhaps even greater difficulties may confront us. Our position is founded on duty and not on emotion and that is true of the stand which every true Catholic takes in the face of all the grave responsibilities of human life; and when as history will demonstrate the Catholic has assumed his position on the principle of duty human and divine nothing in the world can move him from it.

"Those who do not know us think that our religion is emotional—that, above all things, is precisely what it is not. Emotion is fitful, passing, evanescent. The Catholic, once having espoused any cause upon the basis of duty as a divine principle, never lays it down until the cause is justly and rightfully settled. If you want an example, you have merely to look at Catholic Poland, for centuries oppressed, partitioned, persecuted, yet still upright and demanding justice, or at Catholic Ireland, for centuries wronged, abused, maltreated, and still today unconquered. Look again, under our very eyes, at the glorious Irish Catholic nation. Beaten, driven, despoiled, wrecked, yet absolutely undying; or at the papacy, trampled, decaying, yet never flinching, never yielding.

"Surely there is more than an emotion here. It is the faith—the divine faith. In a great cause which never dies and never yields until the wrong is righted, until injustice yields to justice.

"When Napoleon, at the height of his glory, stormed and fumed in the palace at Fontainebleau before the weak old pontiff whom he dragged from the Vatican to be made a tool for his selfish schemes the unconquerable Pius VII gazed at the strutting tyrant, calmly folded his arms, wasted no time in vain words, and for all answer quietly replied: 'Non Possumus.'"

"Now, this is one thing history makes clear, that whatever may be the personal or national temperament of a Catholic, once his duty is made plain, he will stand as immovable as a mountain. And that is our position today.

Poor Service to Nation
"The air is rent with a thousand strident voices, shouting hysterically a thousand different principles. All this is poor service to the nation. It is nothing but emotion pressed to the point of hysteria, and only serves to confuse the minds of the people. Nothing will be gained by that now; and in the years to come—when peace has returned to all the earth—many will not be proud to be confronted then with their own utterances of today.

"Duty, not emotion, must control the minds and hearts of the people of America if they are to rise to the fullness of their strength in these trying times. What is that duty? Let me put it as briefly as possible. The civil authority of our nation is declared us at war—that means that every citizen of America, bowing to that sense of obligation which he assumes as a citizen, must do his full, conscientious duty toward his country and for her defense.

"The measure by which that duty is to be accomplished is for our legitimate government to decide. Our simple and sacred duty is obedience to that authority. That is not emotional, but it is clearest duty; and let me say here that as events move forward it will become more and more manifest that those who will fight the hardest and longest in the sacred cause of our country's defense will be the emotional and not the peace-loving Catholic, fighting not for the love of war, but through the divine sense of duty toward his country.

"We will not be found waving flags nor mustering about patriotism. Perhaps when the call comes, even tears will bedim his eyes, but he will go out quietly from the lanes of peace with the marching millions. He will kneel for God's blessing as he goes. He may not go light-heartedly, the highest and most solemn duties need not always be joyful ones, but he will go, nevertheless, grinningly, determined to secure the future for America just because America has called him for his fullest service. It will be those quiet, determined men with God in their hearts who will secure America most surely.

Hate No One! Despise No One
"Let us have done once for all with these bewildering orations, with these endless insinuations, for if they do not fire men's courage, they only increase their confusion. The one thing now that is necessary and the only thing that will stand firmly through all the varying vicissitudes now before us will be this principle—our country is at war and we are bound before God to render it our fullest service. Hate no one, despise no one. The nation that enters war for hatred's sake has already lost even before she fights her first battle.

"That position once clear, our country may feel assured of the absolute loyalty of all her children. That is our position with regard to this war, with regard to every war, and our duty towards those who suffer by the effects of war is equally clear.

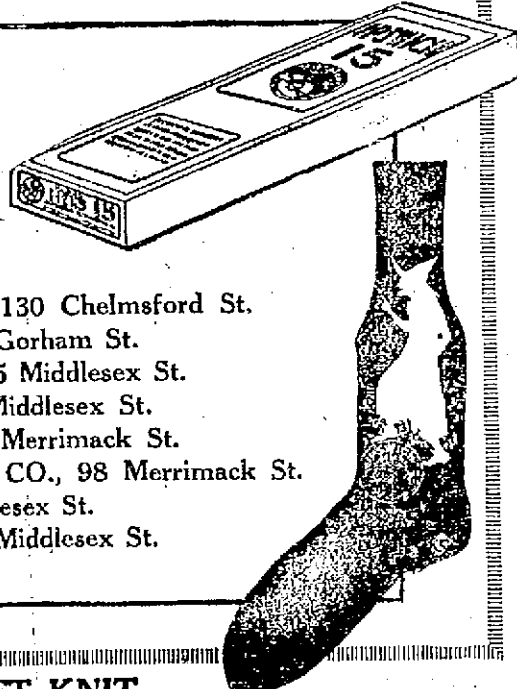

"If today our faith must be stronger than ever, our duty to our country is wider and warmer than ever. Our brave young men will need a million consolations tomorrow which today we must supply. While they are performing nobly and loyally their duty we must see to it that we are not lacking in ours. All the consolations, but our holy faith and everything that human ingenuity can devise for the lessening of pain and suffering must be provided by us generously and adequately.

Commends Red Cross
"We must come along with the brave hearts who go to fight under the standard of our nation another band of kindly generous hearts that go to serve under the holy banner of the Red Cross; and here let us solemnly charge those responsible to see that that banner of the Cross is kept holy. The Cross is a religious symbol and to those who dedicate it by pettiness or bigotry or shameful vanity or dissension. Let that standard be set up wherever there is danger or suffering and there let it represent all the tenderness, all the largeness, all the purity of the love of Christ for suffering humanity.

"To make that possible, let us all give and give generously so that from the very beginning the treasury of mercy will be full to overflowing. Is the time for the rich to be pinched in their generosity, but I know that even the poorest among us will not be satisfied unless he has given something out of his pocket. Remember it the blessed remembrance of the poor which God most bountifully blesses.

"Let us do our duty to the Red Cross now, and when next Sunday comes we shall go before our altars, and kneeling, say: 'Lord, what I could do, that I have done; and Lord, dear Lord, grant to the three worlds, dear Lord, grant, thy blessed gift of peace.'"

That the carnival is a complex plaything, full of playthings, queer people from all sections of the earth, affording pleasure to the masses who are compelled to accept a livelihood by the sweat of the brow, and who here find recreation and pleasure at a very low stipend, one feels positive that such a combination as Mr. Sheesley presents will outlive any other form of outdoor amusement.

The shows, rides and concessions are not different from those seen at the parks and resorts of the larger cities, except the plants are portable, and can be carried from one city to another. Mr. Sheesley carries over four hundred people, all of whom and plenty to do to erect, manage and perform the various functions of his shows. The wild animal show, is a complete circus, and is so much appreciated that standing room is at par every evening. It is a great place to study natural history. That so-called man ape, which is a cross between the chimpanzee and gorilla, the largest of the greater apes, is a lesson to anybody. It doesn't seem possible that such a creature could exist and without making progress even in its home in the wilds. Mr. Sheesley spent ten thousand dollars to secure this specimen and has expended fifty thousand dollars in the last twelve months to make his attractions the very best that could be secured. The great throngs which are attending every night are proof of the correctness of his prophecy that "people don't want to be fooled, and won't suffer foolery nor patronize a fool who so tries to fool the world."

The shows will come to a close Saturday night as all contracts have been made holding the show in commission until December. This year the winter quarters will be at New Orleans, La.

FIRE DEPT. DRILLS NEEDED

Our local fire department has been very fortunate in having no very great fires during the past few years. Whether this has been due to the promptitude with which the department stamps out incipient fires or to fortuitous circumstances is not quite certain; but in all fairness the credit should go to the fire department for the reason that the causes of fires are as numerous as ever and most of the property in Lowell is just as inflammable as that of other cities.

But this absence of great fires is liable to get our firemen accustomed to a state of inactivity in which they would not be in condition to handle a large conflagration. Suppose the operatives on the top floor of one of our highest mills were marooned by fire. Would the fire department be prepared of a moment's notice to take them down or even to reach them?

How many firemen in Lowell could use the scaling ladder on a high building and make rescues as did the Boston firemen in a recent fire in that city?

We have never seen anything of the kind done here and we doubt if anybody else has. Why not drill the firemen in rescue work from high buildings? They may not be required to do anything of the kind for years; and yet we know not the day nor the hour when such a stunt may be necessary to save lives.

If the fire commissioner would spend as much time in arranging drills for the firemen as he does in legal battles trying to oust officials from city hall, the fire department would be more efficient, and better prepared to handle a big fire whenever it comes. Moreover, the citizens do not feel that the best interests of the city are served when the chief of the fire department is frequently called upon to serve as chauffeur for the commissioner in charge of the department. The firemen are in great need of exercise; they suffer from inactivity. Why not have drills during the summer weather in which they can practice the most difficult things they would have to do at a great fire. One thing in which they should be well trained but in which there is too often a lot of fumbling, is the very simple task of getting a stream on the fire in the shortest time possible. Failure in this respect caused the loss of the block in which was located the old city library on Merrimack street.

Bungling with a water tower that the men could not handle caused the loss of the old Card Clothing building on Shattuck street. Few firemen of today may remember these incidents, but the writer was a spectator in both cases and remembers with what disgust the assembled crowd watched the inexcusable delay. In case of the Merrimack street fire, the blaze started in the basement and the firemen were so careful of the property that they hesitated for a considerable time before breaking the basement window to get a stream upon the fire. During this delay the flames were leaping upward into the library. There were many similar delays, one of which occurred in the fire that destroyed the O'Donnell & Gilbride store.

There was much criticism also of the manner in which the fire that swept the Memorial building was handled. There the city library was again visited by fire and one of the most valuable of the city's buildings almost destroyed. That was a case in which the firemen should have shown the best work of which they are capable, but there was a very noticeable lack of teamwork.

We mention these things to show that it is necessary to have all the men drilled in the quickest and most effective use of the apparatus they will be called upon to handle in a conflagration.

If Commissioner Brown devoted his time to seeing that such drills were carried out, or if he allowed Chief Saunders to conduct such drills instead of spending a considerable part of his time in the menial duties of chauffeur to the overhead commissioner, we should have a more efficient department, greater security for life and property and a much lower fire loss.

IMPRISON OR BANISH

If a man within the prescribed age fails to register, he leaves himself liable to the severe sentence of a federal court and in a way the federal courts are inexorable.

Some idea of how they treat violators of the law may be gained from the case of Louis Kramer of New York. This man was sentenced by Judge Mayer the other day to pay a very heavy fine and serve a term in the penitentiary for opposing the conscription law and failing to register. But the final part of the sentence provided that after the term of imprisonment is concluded, Kramer shall be deported.

To the man who has any appreciation of American citizenship, that would be the worst part of the punishment, but to one who is an anarchist, banishment means very little. The anarchist claims no country as his own and in his eyes all governments are bad.

If the punishment seems stern, it must be remembered the offense was great. America in the past has opposed her gates wide to all who would enter. It made the privilege of citizenship comparatively easy. In return, the least that could be expected was obedience to the laws of the land and loyal service in time of national trial and peril.

Kramer was willing to render neither obedience nor service. He went further and sought to have others behave in a treasonable way. He got exactly what he deserved. There are others who deserve the same punishment and they are likely to get it. Those who evade registration and who go about stirring up opposition to the government and sympathy for the enemy, should have no leniency from the government. There has been too much tolerance of anarchy, social revolutionism, socialism and other evils which avowedly seek the overthrow of the government. Those who have openly boasted of their anarchistic principles and of what they were doing against the government, should receive the same punishment as Kramer.

THE RED CROSS

Editor Sun,
Dear Sir: Is there any truth in the rumor now in circulation that the Red Cross discriminated against a certain military organization in Boston with which Col. Logan is connected?

Very truly yours,

H. F. C.

The rumor in question is based upon a very indiscreet remark made by a woman who had rendered generous assistance to the Red Cross and who did not represent the organization in any official way. There has been altogether too much notice taken of this casual statement.

We believe the Red Cross is thoroughly fair to all classes, all races and all creeds. Its principles are too broad to admit of anything like sectionalism. But when anybody is inclined to contribute it is easy to find a pretext. Cardinal O'Connell's endorsement of the Red Cross should silence such critics.

Would you send an angel of mercy to the side of the wounded and dying, with succor, sympathy and relief? If so, then contribute to the Red Cross, organized for this work of mercy and seeking only the opportunity to minister to suffering humanity in this terrible war.

The letter of King Albert of Belgium to President Wilson, presenting the Belgian mission, breathed the spirit of true patriotism and unflinching valor. Albert is one of the kings for whom the people have real love because he is one of them.

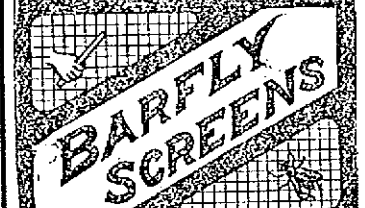

If the released Sinn Feiners start more trouble in Ireland, they will destroy all prospect of home rule or any other concession, yet some people, chiefly of German sympathies, applaud this policy as politically wise.

Met His Match

An Englishman thinking to have a jest at Pat when he met him, driving a horse with a lump on its leg, asked: "What ails your horse?"

"Nothing," said Pat. "Then why has he that lump on his leg?"

"O," said Pat, "it was longer than the others and I put a knot in it."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

New Meaning of "B. C."

The exploration party from the far east had dumped themselves with their tame professor in the "Cannytown" and were giving nightly pictures to the populace.

"This corner stone," observed the professor one night, "belonging to a slab of marble at his side, 'belonged to the ancient library which I and my colleagues discovered in the ancient land of Keverkus. You will notice on close inspection that it is inscribed '400 B. C.' Now what do you suppose that means?"

He beamed on the hall in general and beamed twice as hard on the owner of a red tam-o'-shanter, who seemed to wish to answer his query.

"It can mean but one thing," said the red capped one, conclusively: "Before Carnegie."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Lover's Request

It was to be his last call. They stood on the porch in the moonlight.

"You are determined?" he said, finally.

"Yes, George, I think it is for the best that we do not see each other again."

"Do you love another?"

"I have promised my heart to Harold Udyke."

There was a moment's silence. George stepped back and drew from his pocket a revolver, which glinted in the pale light.

"George, George," shrieked the girl. "What do you intend to do?" she took hold of his arm.

"Not a great deal," replied George calmly. "I have been calling on you for the last six months, Evelyn, and I have only exterminated about half the dogs in this neighborhood. I want you to take this gun and give it to Udyke. He may want to finish the rest of them."—Puck.

Locked Up His "Medicine"

"You had better lock that garage while there are so many men around here," said a north side householder who was having some work done about his place. So his wife went down obediently at 10 o'clock and locked the garage.

"Missus," said an old colored man, as he touched his hat at the door an hour later. "I left some of my medicine in your garage and the door is locked."

After much searching for the key, which she had mislaid, the lady of the house found it and let the colored man into the garage. He searched for a long time and then yelled to his partner: "Sam, where did you put that medicine of mine?"

In obedience to this question Sam came in and after much rummaging around he drew forth a bottle, flat, to fit the pocket, with contents resembling

An Off Day for Safety Razors

Among the endlessly strange types to be found in all big cities is the person who never knows his place.

One of them spoiled the entire afternoon for a young woman who was at work in the window of a Sixth avenue drug store in New York. The young woman was busily demonstrating a safety razor which, when properly used, will remove anything from a man's face except a beard.

She would go through the motions of shaving with the patented beautifier and after each exercise would hold up small signs which explained all.

A ponderous man, very tall, very wide and unquestionably thick, stopped in front of the window. He had a full beard, such as the Russian police chiefs used to fancy before Mr. Romanoff got out of work. Briefly, he was no customer for a safety razor at all, he was just killing time and reading the signs out of sheer morbid curiosity.

One of the periodical throngs gathered about the window and proceeded to peek under arms, around the sides and—by giving each other a lift—over the shoulders of the bearded blockhead. He was clearly of the grating in restraint of trade. Finally the young woman called back to someone in the store, obtained a pencil and wrote in black letters on a card, "Beard."

One of the signs the following eloquent message: "Get out of the way." She pointed her right index finger right between the eyes of the large man, and he, after a surprised glance about him, creaked up Sixth avenue.

Furthermore, the throng followed him, proving that it was an off day for the safety razor business in Sixth avenue.

The War Lord's Rest

I wonder if the katser's sleep is sound, Or if in dreams that startle him awake

He hears dead voices issue from the ground And sees the ghosts of fallen hosts that shake

Their grizzly flaps before his staring eyes; I wonder if about the imperial bed

He does not feel a force malignant rise —The living curses of the murdered dead!

I wonder if the katser's sleep is sound, Or if in eerie stratches of the night,

He faces God in terrible affright, The God he has blasphemed, the God he crowned

With Prussian bays for Prussian deeds of hate! I wonder if his true rest in sleep

While little children moan and women weep Because his lust for empire waxed too great!

He drew the sword and drenched the world in blood; He plunked mankind in agony profound;

I wonder if, amid this crimson flood, The katser's sleep is sound! —Berton Braley.

O.M.I. CADETS TO MEET THIS EVENING

All branches of the O.M.I. Cadets—the infantry, naval reserve and the drum corps—will meet at the armory in East Merrimack street tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Major Conroy will have an important announcement to make, and he expects every member of the organization to be present. Plans for the Sunday drill will be made and other matters will be discussed. The arrangements for the annual encampment will also be acted upon. Many new members were enrolled last week, and they made their first appearance at the military mass last Sunday. These will, of course, be given considerable drilling, in order to have them ready for the maneuvers in connection with "camp week."

NEW THEATRE TO OPEN
SEPTEMBER FIRST

It is expected that the new Strand theatre will be thrown open for performances by Sept. 1, and the manager of the new house, F. James Carroll, is very confident that the public of Lowell will be given its first opportunity to inspect the new place of amusement, which, by the way, will be one of the finest of its kind in New England, on Labor day.

The exterior of the building with the exception of the facade in Central street is practically finished, while work on completing the interior is being rushed along. A large gang of plasterers is now busy spreading plaster over the steel laths, and it is hoped before a great while the painters and decorators will be on the job.

The theatre proper is located in Central street by way of a lobby extending over the canal. The lobby from the street to the theatre is about 75 feet long. It also extends to the rear of the theatre and according to present plans it will be a very attractive spot. In the centre of the lobby will be an electric fountain, which will be a beautiful piece of work. Along the lobby in the theatre proper will be various rooms such as two ladies' rooms, check room, manager's office and men's room. There will be two entrances to the theatre from the lobby, while in other parts of the theatre will be 12 exits.

The seating capacity of the new house will be about 2000 and a feature of the building will be that there will be no gallery. The auditorium of the theatre will be built on amphitheatre style with box seats in the rear, generally called the orchestra circle, while the rear of the theatre will have a steep incline, but there will be no stairs to climb. The seats will be so arranged that people can walk through the aisles without interfering in any way with the performance.

Two stages will be large and deep and very artistic. The orchestra, composed of at least 15 pieces, will be in charge of Arthur J. Martel, former orchestra leader at the B. F. Keith theatre and now connected with a large theatre in Boston, and will have its position on the stage. In front of the stage, where the orchestra pit is generally located, will be the organ pit, while the organ itself will be built over the box seats on the two sides of the theatre. The organ will be of the Austin type as is seen at the Strand theatre in New York. Sound pipes will extend from the organ to various parts of the theatre and when Mr. Martel tickles the keys of the monster instrument music will flow from every direction. The theatre will be illuminated in 12 different ways, the shades of the lights to be regulated by the organist and so arranged as to harmonize with the music.

The manager of the new theatre, F. James Carroll, has had considerable experience in this particular line of work. Mr. Carroll opened the Tremont Square theatre in this city seven years ago and a few years later he shifted over to picture shows and his career in this line has been very successful. Since leaving Lowell he has had charge of large theatres in New York, Boston and other large centres and what he doesn't know about moving pictures is hardly worth knowing. He said the new theatre will endeavor to satisfy the public of Lowell, and it does not matter what plays are shown, once the price of admission is set for the theatre it will remain. For the opening day it is hoped to feature some of the best artists in the moving picture world and it is also expected that a number of stars will attend the first performances.

In the basement of the building is a fairly large room, which will be known as the testing room. In this room all the films will be tested and censored and all parts of films that are found to be of color will be eliminated. It is also in this room that the orchestra director will get his "tips" as to what kind of music is required for such and such a film. The new Strand theatre will be a credit to Lowell with its $20,000 string organ, 15-piece orchestra and the best that film land can produce.

WITH THE ARMY AND NAVY

President Wilson has issued a proclamation calling for 70,000 volunteers for the regular army. The week of June 24 has been designated as a recruiting week for this particular branch of the service, and at the local station in Central street preparations are being made to receive a large number of enlistments during this period. Last April when war was declared, army officials decided that in order to bring the service to war strength by June 30, it would be necessary to enlist over 154,000 men. As yet only a little over 127,000 recruits have been enrolled, and hence the call for 70,000 to fill the ranks. This proclamation and call for volunteers is just as urgent as Lincoln's call in the Civil war, and there is no reason why it should be answered with as great enthusiasm. The local station will be open every night and on Sundays from now on until the desired number has been enrolled.

Several Lowell men have recently enlisted at the various recruiting stations in Boston. Among them are William F. Reagan of 208 South street, who enlisted in the army; and Joseph E. Viera of 43 Grove avenue, and Eugene A. Fitzgerald of 333 Broadway, both of whom enlisted in the navy. Michael J. McDermott of 7 Duffer st., has passed the examination for the local army station and will leave for Fort Slocum, N. Y., next Monday. Wilfred Brochu of Methuen, and Albert E. Hazeltine of the local station to enter the army, but have not yet been accepted.

Henry M. Carpenter of Hudson has enlisted in the navy from the Lowell station. This enlistment is the result of one of the automobile expeditions which the local officers have been conducting.

At the Westford street armory things are beginning to take on a new lease of life. Last night three 25-men from Newburyport—Cory, Thynne and Privates Quigley and Ginnivan—under the direction of Sergt. McDermott, conducted a recruiting campaign and the Lakeview grounds, and as a result six more men are awaiting

SCHOOL CHILDREN MUST BE PROTECTED

Angus A. MacDonald, state building inspector, is endeavoring to have the city provide proper fire saving apparatus in schools and other public buildings. He states that he has been assured by Commissioner Warnock that the matter of providing additional money to put all the school buildings in the city in proper shape would be brought to the attention of the council, but up to the present time, he says, it has not been done.

ANGUS A. MACDONALD, State Inspector

Inspector MacDonald states that steps must be taken to protect city buildings and schools and it must be done soon. Undoubtedly if something is not done in the near future the inspector will take steps to hasten the work of equipping the buildings with safeguards for the lives of the occupants. Mr. MacDonald is strong on schoolhouse protection, for as state officer he has witnessed a great loss of life because of inadequate protection against fire.

"If ever a child should perish through any inconsiderate carelessness," he was heard to say recently, "I would consider myself a criminal and I am determined to do my duty to the children of this city."

He has witnessed more than one tragedy in schools and his heart has bled for the victims of school fires. He has already been too much delayed and either Mr. Warnock and the city government will move or somebody else will move.

ANNETTE KELLERMAN IN A DAUGHTER OF THE GODS AT KEITH'S THEATRE

Miss Annette Kellerman is the heroine in "A Daughter of the Gods" a great spectacular production now at Keith's theatre. This photoplay has probably been so named because of the physical perfection and beauty of form of Miss Kellerman, a famous swimmer and here a water nymph. The spectacle delighted a large audience last night. The scene is laid in Jamaica and with the tropical luxuriance of foliage, bright skies and sunny seas, the possibilities of the camera, together with the imagination of the photoplay artist, are combined to produce a play that is at once striking, deeply interesting and indeed to a great extent fascinating. There are water sprites and gnomes such as the readers of fairy tales can readily imagine, and then there are armies in conflict and oh! such conflict—some would say too much combat of the thousands of warriors which only prolongs the desire to see Miss Kellerman in her favorite acts. These are truly wonderful. Her hands tied she is thrown into an angry sea; then she is thrown among a family of alligators but the camera men manage to bring her out alive with their usual ingenuity. The diving-scenes are stunningly astounding. The wonderful transformations from land to sea, from the wealth of tropical scenery to the sailing ship waves and then to the imaginary showing of things that never existed except as a subject for the photoplay spectacle as this to form a background and as well a background for the acts of Miss Kellerman. There is nothing to offend in this show, even in the dance of the hours in front of the aged Sultan.
